Vessels Break In Gale

Two Men Lost; 56 Still Sought

BOSTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Thirty-two seamen were saved from a bludgeoning sea tonight, but 56 others are unaccounted for after the winter's worst storm broke two big tankers in half off Cape Cod.

At least two disappeared before rescuers' eyes, one as daring Coast Guardsmen removed the 32 from the stern section of the tanker Pendleton. Another life-jacketed figure leaped into the boiling sea and disappeared as Coast Guard craft approached the Pendleton's separately drifting bow.

Coast Guardsmen said they detected no other sign of life on the derelict bow, reported by survivors to have been occupied by the captain and three mates.

NONE TOO SOON

A minute after the 32 were taken off, the Pendleton's stern rolled over and sank in breakers that crashed 25 to 30 feet high on near-by North Chatham beach.

There had been 33 men on the stern, but one missed a jump for the motor lifeboat and was crushed between it and the steel hulk.

Shipmates said his name was George Myers, address unknown.

Other Coast Guard craft were battling raging seas in an effort to save men known to be aboard the widely separated bow and stern of the other tanker, the Fort Mercer. Both sections were being driven southeastward by gale-whipped waves.

The Fort Mercer was believed manned by a crew of 43.

REACHES BOW

The cutter Yakutat radioed she reached the Fort Mercer's bow about 30 miles southeast of Chatham and was striving to get a line aboard.

The 32 of the Pendleton's company saved were taken off by Chief Boatswain Donald Bangs and three mates in a motor whaleboat. Repeatedly they plowed through buffeting seas past the tanker's ladder as a plane dropped flares to light the stormy scene. Each time the boat passed, a man leaped for the pitching whaleboat, and only one missed.

The survivors were rushed to Chatham.

One of them, Rollo Kennison of Kalamazoo, Mich., said he had no idea what befell the Pendleton. The tanker sent out no call for assistance, apparently breaking in two before such a message could be transmitted.

On land, the howling, gale-swept storm took at least 25 lives throughout the northeast United States, and buried much of New England under two feet of snow.

B.C. to Japan and Return

Unloaded here yesterday and last night were 500 tons of Japanese steel, made from B.C. ore. The cargo was removed by 26 longshoremen and a large fleet of heavy trucks from the U.S. freighter Charles E. Dant at the drydock jetty, Esquimalt. The steel was delivered immediately to Yarrows Ltd. A similar shipment is expected soon for V.M.D. (See story page 24.)—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Liberal Caucus Reaches Compromise on Session

Compensation Bill to Come Up, B.C.H.I.S., Labor Act Shelved

By JIM NESBITT

In a compromise move, as is the way of all political bodies, the government caucus Monday wiped out hospital insurance and the labor act from this session's business, but decided to let proceed some amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act the increased benefits to injured employees.

Bills to be considered include a bill legalizing factory coloring of margarine, the provincial tax agreement with Ottawa and the budget, it was learned yesterday.

In this manner was a serious break between the premier and the attorney-general averted.

It has been an open secret for some time that Mr. Johnson wanted a session devoid of all controversial issues, but that Mr. Wismer would deal with every matter now before the government, controversial or not.

In any event, after an all-day caucus, the government members made peace between the chief of government and his first lieutenant. No political wounds were left.

CHIEF INTEREST

Mr. Wismer was chiefly interested in the Workmen's Compensation Act, as it was he, as minister of labor, who announced on the eve of the 1949 election that he would ask Chief Justice Gordon Sloan to once more enquire into every phase of the act. The premier has taken chief responsibility for the labor act and the hospital insurance, as it was he who appointed special legislative committees to enquire into them.

Government members were tight-lipped as they left the caucus room late Monday. However, Attorney-General Wismer, cornered by reporters, and obviously instructed by the caucus, said: "You can say we have reached unanimous conclusion."

This was taken to mean there was a sawoff, and that both sides had won a point with no hard feelings on either side.

WON'T RESIGN

Asked if he was going to resign, as was rumored, if he didn't get his way, Mr. Wismer said: "I wouldn't resign, would I, if we had reached unanimous conclusion. And that's what we did. I can say no more than that."

Out of the compromise one definite fact emerged that there'll be an election in mid-summer, with a session in the early autumn a session in charge of whatever kind of government is elected.

Meanwhile, in the confusion created by the mists of the political situation, M.L.A.'s took up their new and enlarged offices.

The C.C.F., dislodged as the official opposition, found themselves in rooms looking into a sunken rose garden, while the new opposition, the Progressive Conservatives, were in the room that looks rather dimly into a well.

NO ILL FEELINGS

However, there were no ill feelings. The new leader of the opposition, Herbert Anscomb, was seen walking along a corridor with Harold Winch, the old leader of the opposition. Mr. Winch looked not the least bit sad even though he will lose a sessional $2,881 because he is no longer the leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition that the Speaker recognizes.

Mr. Anscomb, recognizing a passer-by, and pointing to the Coalition caucus room, where government members were talking behind closed doors, crackled out: "How's the new Coalition doing?"

Then he and Mr. Winch disappeared into the C.C.F. room. Messrs. Winch and Anscomb have now found one great point in common: opposition to the government.

Mr. Winch seemed pleased enough with his new and larger quarters. He noted his own room is now next to the Executive Cabinet chamber, where top-flight government decisions are made; indeed a door connects the two, though the government will make sure that the door is locked, that Mr. Winch hasn't the key.

Wisecracked Mr. Winch: "Well, I'm now next to the cabinet room at last—after the next election I'll be in there."

Mrs. Tilly Rolston sparkled along legislative corridors, looking well and rested after five weeks of loafing in the Hawaiian Islands. She said she's not a Social Crediter; nor has she gone back to the Progressive Conservative fold; that she's an Independent and she'll stay that until after the session anyway.

M.L.A.'s were more than impressed with their redone legislative dining room. It appeared as a restaurant in New York, or perhaps Paris or Rio. It was rumored $15,000 had been spent on the repair job. The kitchen has new and gleaming equipment. In the dining room the claret colored rug ordered for Princess Elizabeth last October has been laid wall to wall.

Man Drowns At Esquimalt

A civilian employee deckhand of the navy harbor tug Glendon, drowned yesterday when he fell from the vessel into Esquimalt Harbor.

Robert L. Heal, 21, of 1493 Myrtle, was reported missing and believed drowned after he fell overboard from the Glendon at 4:30 yesterday afternoon.

The Glendon was on her way from H.M. Dockyard to the fuel jetty, at the Colwood end of the harbor, where it was to attend H.M.C.S. Quebec, when the accident took place.

Heal's fellow crewmen attempted to rescue him when he was seen going over the side, but he disappeared from view.

Naval harbor craft were quickly dispatched to the scene to aid in the search. They combed the area where he was last seen until dusk, but his body was not found.

The search was called off at dark, but will be resumed at first light this morning by both navy and R.C.M.P. search craft.

No explanation of how Heal fell from the vessel was available last night.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace J. Heal, 1493 Myrtle. He was born in Chilliwack, B.C., and attended Victoria High School before going to work at the dockyard.

Runaway Boy Coming Back Wounded Combat Veteran

A 19-year-old soldier who nearly drove his parents frantic with worry is coming home.

But he is a tired and wounded soldier still suffering agonizing pain caused by five Communist machine gun bullets that hit him one night on the Korean battlefield.

Pte. Harold A. Holben, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Holben, 737 Vancouver Street, will meet his parents for the first time since 1946 when he steps from the Vancouver boat on Thursday afternoon.

His soldier father, who is a sergeant in the 13th Field Ambulance unit at the Bay Street Armory, pieced the story together in the kitchen of his home last night.

Pte. Harold Holben was left in a school at Kemptville, Ont., while his parents came west to Victoria.

"He was in knee pants then," his father said.

Suddenly about three years ago letters from their son stopped and school officials said he had run away.

Next clue to his whereabouts came from the casualty list from Ottawa printed in The Daily Colonist saying in terse military language that Pte. Harold Holben had been wounded in action.

NO AMPUTATION

It was later learned that he was in an American field hospital in Korea where doctors wanted to amputate his leg. He refused to consent to the operation and was later transferred to a British hospital.

Still his frantic parents couldn't get in touch with their son and he couldn't correspond with them because they had recently moved.

He finally got an up-to-date address from a relative in England, and wrote home, but being moved from one hospital to another he did not receive their answer.

Next clue in his whereabouts was received by his parents when they went to a local theatre one night.

"The newsreel came on and there he was being unloaded from a plane at Ottawa," his father said.

To date the young soldier has been sweating it out on the operating table while doctors fight to save his leg, which is now about five inches shorter than the other.

He has had 18 operations and has more to go.

The youth has now been discharged from the army.

But he didn't stop surprising his parents.

"He also got married in Ottawa," sighed his father, "and he won't be 20 until March."

Mr. and Mrs. Holben have never seen their son's bride but she can be sure of a welcome reception at the Holben home.

"We are having a couple of days to ourselves and then on Saturday we will have a party and invite all our friends," the father said.

Demara Seeks To Sell History

LAWRENCE, Mass., Feb. 18 (AP)—Ferdinand Waldo Demara, 30, who as Surg. Lieut. Joseph Cyr of the Royal Canadian Navy operated on many Korean War wounded before his true identity was discovered, returned from Hollywood today, where he said he offered his life story to the films for $100,000.

Demara said he had signed a contract with a Hollywood agent.

Although Demara's performance in the war zone received only favorable attention, it was disclosed he never was a surgeon or physician. He was dismissed from the Canadian Navy when this became known.

Armored Vest Saves Soldier

CENTRAL FRONT, Korea, Feb. 18 (AP)—Shrapnel from a Chinese mortar shell hit Pte. M. Nija above the heart today during his company's assault on a hill south of Pyonggang. But it didn't kill him.

Nija wore one of the new-model armored vests which Allied troops are testing.

All the jagged metal did to the vest was tear the nylon casing and scar the alloy plate inserts.

"I did not want to wear the vest," Nija said. "But now they will never have to order me again. It saved my life."

Jet Secrets In Magazine

LONDON, Feb. 19 (Tuesday) (Reuters)—The London Daily Express said today security officers will investigate publication of secret jet fighter details in a Swiss magazine.

The paper claimed that the Swiss journal Interavia carried details of British jet fighter Supermarine Swift, still on the top secret list in this country.

Snapping at Alligator Puts Turtle in Solitary

A sentence of solitary confinement for life has been passed on Rosie, the brutal turtle, after a provincial museum killing that stirred an aquarium to its depths.

Rosie, a member of the snapping turtle family, was gingerly moved into a tank by herself after she suddenly snapped at a small alligator which shared her former tank.

Today the museum had a new alligator—about 20 feet away from Rosie's tank.

Staff at the museum said the snapper, "noted for a vicious nature and the power of its jaws," would live alone from now on.

Post-War Talks Set

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 19 (Tuesday) (AP)—Allied and Communist truce teams today reached final agreement on a post-Korean War political conference.

Staff officers will work out mechanical details to put agenda item five—recommendations to the belligerent governments—into the final armistice agreement.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, senior Allied negotiator, told the Reds his staff officers would not be authorized to make any changes or additions in the wording of the agreement.

Still to be settled are the questions of voluntary repatriation for prisoners and the rebuilding of Red military airfields during a truce.

Korean War Assignment Good News to Brigadier

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 (CP)—Brig. M. P. Bogert is going back to the mountains and he says he's glad to go, even if it is to Korea.

Furthermore, although he had months of mountain fighting in Italy, he says he's going back to it "with an open mind," ready to learn.

Appointment of the 43-year-old wartime brigade commander to succeed big, colorful Brig. John M. Rockingham, 41, as commander of the 25th Brigade in Korea in April was announced today. Brig. Rockingham, by coincidence, is married to a cousin of Brig. Bogert, the former Mary Hammond of Victoria.

A few hours after the announcement, Brig. Bogert told reporters that he is completely happy to leave a desk job at army headquarters to return to command of soldiers in the field. In his job as director-general of military training, he's been reading reports on Korea for months.

The Korean assignment, he said with a big, authentic grin, suits him to the ground.

Brig. Rockingham will take over Brig. Bogert's job at army headquarters some time after April 15, the day the latter reports for duty in the Far East.

The switch will complete transfer home of the group of men who led the brigade and its infantry battalions through the first months of fighting. Brig. Rockingham's three original battalion commanders now are back in Canada.

Most of the original brigade manpower will be back by June.

Reduced Cigarette Tax Possible in New Budget

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 (CP)—Ontario tobacco growers today asked the Canadian government for a tax cut of about 12 cents on a package of 20 cigarettes. Official quarters indicated later they may get part but not all of that reduction in the next budget.

Two non-smokers, Finance Minister Abbott and Francis R. Gregory of Leamington, Ont., discussed the issue as a delegation of the growers gathered to protest what they called the "outdated and archaic" tobacco-tax structure in Canada.

Mr. Gregory asked Mr. Abbott to cut the 25.2-cent-a-package federal cigarette tax by about half.

As chairman of the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Association and head of the growers' delegation, he said this would reduce the retail price to 30 cents a package from 42 and halt a growing cigarette-smuggling racket in Canada.

Mr. Abbott issued no statement on the conference. Informants said, however, it was likely that the cigarette tax may be sliced when the 1952-53 budget comes out April next, but not as much as the growers wanted.

Youngster Falls, Dies On Alaska Mountain

SEWARD, Alaska, Feb. 18 (AP)—A woman's night rescue attempt, aided by a searchlight from a tanker in the bay, failed Sunday night to save the life of 11-year-old Bobby Kramer, injured in a fall on ice-covered Marathon Mountain.

The boy fell late Sunday afternoon as he and Charles Kekoni, 11, were descending the 3,000-foot peak. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kramer, came here recently from Seattle.

He lay in the bitter cold four hours before Mrs. Kekoni, guided by her son who had gotten down the mountain and home, reached him. Two other boys, Micky Muir and Dale Thomas, got to him a short way ahead of her and said that he moaned slightly, although his hands and feet were frozen.

The boy's dog was still with his master.

A tanker in the bay turned its searchlight on the ice-covered mountain's sides.

Mrs. Kekoni said she had the boys move the injured lad to a clump of alders but she was unable to start a fire.

Dr. J. B. Deisher said later that exposure contributed to the boy's death.

Date of Coronation To Be Known in June

LONDON, Feb. 18 (CP)—A court official said today plans for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II are not likely to be announced until after the period of official court mourning ends May 31.

But though an early announcement of the date is not expected, the young Queen today received the Duke of Norfolk, who as Earl Marshal organized her father's funeral and is responsible for coronation arrangements. She personally will set the date.

Usually, the coronation of a Sovereign is not performed until a year after his or her accession to the throne. But many observers believe Elizabeth will be crowned in summer because fine weather is needed for the gala procession through the streets of London.

If the Queen is crowned this year, she and her husband will be free to make their postponed tour of Australia and New Zealand next year.

The Queen will hold the first semi-public ceremony of her reign on Feb. 27 to invest several knighthoods conferred by the King and to present the Victoria Cross to a Korean war hero.

About 100 persons have been summoned to Buckingham Palace for the investiture and for the presentation of the medal to Pte. William Speakman for gallantry in action. Court sources said the young Queen is not breaking precedent in holding the investiture during the period of court mourning.

The Royal Family, meanwhile, returned to its normal daily tasks after a week-end rest following the funeral at Windsor Castle last Friday.

F.B.I. Arrests Former Klansmen

The F.B.I., moving against night riders who have terrorized southeastern North Carolina, Friday arrested these former Ku Klux Klansmen on charge of kidnapping and flogging a white man and woman. The 10 include a deputy sheriff and a constable. They were arrested in Fayetteville, N.C.—(INP Soundphoto.)

ONCE A WEEK

By H. T. Matson

By the sages it is said that anybody who can write—that's to say who thinks that he (or she) can write—should be able to knock off an ode, essay article, short story or novel about anything at all; and in about ten minutes. So, in about ten seconds we'll just demonstrate how wrong and silly are the sages.

Anything at all, they coo . . . very well, let's shade our eyes and look soulfully out to sea, for inspiration . . . id est, for anything at all. What do we find? Waves, foam, ships, fish, mermaids, sea-serpents, tin cans, chunks of wood, corpses, fog, bobbing bottles containing scrawled death notes from shipwrecked bootleggers . . . and don't forget . . . thousands and thousands of iron-bound oaken chests bursting with doubloons, emeralds, sapphires and pearls as big as the best tennis balls.

Ten minutes have passed, in which we've examined the sea but as yet have been unable to heave up with a story. We could do one on tennis, perhaps . . . no, no . . . the sad, sleek, sibilant, succulent sea is still a-calling. We must back to it. The waves are waving; the fish are fishing; the murmaids murmur . . .

Now there's a penalty for punning . . . The writer was hit heavily from behind. Death came suddenly. The post mortem revealed that he had been clubbed, but whether by the "Jokers" or the "Tillicums" is not yet known. The victim's head, however, is apparently missing. When queried about this, his next of kin said irritably, "The silly ass never had one to begin with." According to Inspector Pokey of R.C.M.P., the victim's life-long addiction to hotel-nut and feeble puns were either the direct or indirect cause of a brutal assault, and that the case ipso jure would be closed and a public holiday declared before it was too late.

"Too late for what?" demanded a slit-eyed but brilliant Colonist reporter.

"Oh, too late for tea," smirked Inspector Pokey, trenchantly.

"Rats!" snapped back the newsman, reddening. "He never drank tea nohows. That's libel!"

"Label's more like it," sneered the Inspector. "RUBBING ALCOHOL. TO BE APPLIED EXTERNALLY ONLY . . . ha, ha, ha! That's his label; ha; but he mistook EX for IN. Ha, ha, ha! Ain't that a goodyun! Hoa, ha, ho . . ."

"Any motive for the crime?" our reporter interrupted sharply.

"Sure! A locomotive!" the Mountie roared at his own joke.

"What about his wrist watch?" sinuously from the Colonist, ignoring the levity.

"Eh?" the Pokey eyelids contracted warily.

"His watch. From Singapore. Lost just before his death. Radio stations were broadcasting about it. Anything to say?" The Colonist man spoke meanly and as if knowing a great deal more than the police would care to publicize.

"Pouff!" The Inspector replied arily but nevertheless, paling. "After a year's intensive investigation we discovered he'd paid no duty on it. Forget it."

"You mean the radio unpremediatedly tipped you off," the press challenged accusingly. For some long seconds the Inspector nibbled his lips silently, then "Yes," he murmured finally. "That's true."

"And then you confiscated it?"

"Yes," the Pokey head hung limp as an eel's over a steam-pipe.

"And now the corpse can be charged with duty plus penalties and even jailed?" embitteredly from the journalist.

"Well, we'd hardly jail a stiff." Inspector Pokey's lean face twitched guiltily.

"Will the watch ever be returned if penalties, etc., are somehow paid?" our reporter pressed relentlessly.

"Yes, indeed yes," the Inspector was now sobbing like a bride, bereft.

"WHEN?" the Colonist demanded thunderously.

"It will take time, Ottawa. Formalities. Channels, and all that," the Federal man coughed deprecatingly. "We must wait and watch. A matter of time. Thing can't be wound up in a minute . . ." "Stop punning," screamed the reporter, diving at the Inspector's throat. "If I pay the duty, will you give that watch to ME???"

"Aye," croaked the dying officer. "Ah, dulce et decorum est pro Ottawa mori," he bravely improvised while sinking to the cold linoleum. "Tsk, tsk!" The Colonist gazed dourly at the undertaker's next, paused, saluted, then broke quietly away.

P.S. Truthfully, a watch was bought in Singapore. And it was lost; and was radioed and advertised and returned. And it was also confiscated. About six weeks ago. And about three weeks ago word came from Ottawa that R.C.M.P. here would be duly notified. But as yet they apparently have not been "duly notified." "Why?" . . . The answer is "CHANNELS" . . . It's time they did some dredging.

P.P.S.—Watch returned Monday, Feb. 18. That's yesterday; almost six weeks after capture. Cheque to Receiver-General, $113.25! Ottawa can still keep dredging.

War Criminals Freed in Japan

TOKYO, Feb. 18 (Reuters).—Gen. Matthew Ridgway's headquarters today announced that 20 war criminals ranging from civilian guards to naval captains will be released Feb. 26, bringing to 675 the number of war criminals now on parole. They were serving sentences from 10 to 15 years for crimes committed on the Chinese mainland and in the Pacific islands.

Scotch Price May Rise

Proof that living costs have gone up may be found by drinkers of Scotch whisky after March 1.

The Scotch Whisky Association has announced that countries paying less than $12.07 for 12 bottles of whisky will be charged an extra five shillings a case.

Because Canada has a slightly lower proof on its whisky than many other markets, the lower price prevails here. Or at least it will until March 1.

The liquor board disclaims any knowledge of the boost. "We haven't any proof on this statement yet," an official stated.

German, French Bars To Army Partly Cleared

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Big Three foreign ministers and West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer took two big steps today toward preventing German pride and French prejudice from wrecking the western defense build-up.

Informed sources said the four-power talks, which continued far into the night, ended with plans by Britain, France and the United States to meet French demands for guarantees that German participation in the European army would not mean rebirth of German militarism.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France also was said to have agreed to negotiate a settlement of the Franco-German row over the future of the rich Saar Basin. Adenauer is believed to have assured Schuman, Secretary of State Dean Acheson of the United States and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that he will take part in such negotiations. Settlement of the dispute [illegible] for joining the proposed European army.

Official spokesman said the ministers made some progress on several issues confronting them. But they also left several questions unsettled.

The outcome of the London talks could break a political log-jam in Paris, where the government of Premier Edgar Faure faces a vote of confidence on the European army issue tomorrow, and in Lisbon, where top-level conferences are paving the way for the opening Wednesday of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council.

The French National Assembly is due tomorrow to vote for or against the six-nation European army plan which would transform West Germany from a defeated enemy into a re-armed ally.

There seems no chance that the Lisbon conferees will agree to a German arms drive immediately.

Fire Razes Noted Lodge In Quebec

STE. AGATHE DES MONTS, Que., Feb. 18 (CP)—The Laurentian mountains lodge where Queen Elizabeth last autumn spent a two-day holiday during the Royal tour was destroyed by fire last night.

The 12-room lodge was part of the estate of J. W. McConnell, Montreal publisher and financier, and was situated on a beautiful lake at the foot of a mountain, six miles from Ste. Agathe des Monts.

Cause of the fire was not known. No one was injured.

Pearson Not Talking on N.A.T.O. Job

LISBON, Feb. 18 (CP)—Reports that Canada's External Affairs Minister, L. B. Pearson, is willing to take the job of secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty organization were heard here today but the Canadian minister left reporters none the wiser on his intentions.

Official sources told Reuters News Agency that Pearson has indicated willingness to accept the permanent post which is envisaged under a re-organization plan being considered. It is expected that the post of the head of N.A.T.O. permanent staff will be created at the council meeting beginning Wednesday.

Pearson told reporters who asked him if he is likely to take the job:

"That is a hypothetical question."

He was the West's candidate for the post of secretary-general of the United Nations, a post now held by Norway's Trygve Lie.

It was indicated earlier this month that Pearson was willing to run for presidency of the seventh U.N. General Assembly next fall.

Party rumors about the N.A.T.O. job were that the choice had narrowed down to Pearson and Sir Oliver Franks.

Bookies' Trial May Extend To Four Weeks

VANCOUVER, Feb. 18 (CP)—Court observers predicted tonight that the big bookmaking conspiracy trial now in session will take nearly four weeks to complete.

Only two witnesses took the stand today to give evidence against the 26 persons on trial. Both were detectives. One, Detective George Arnott took a bare 15 minutes to complete his testimony.

The other, Detective William Butchart of the gambling detail, was in the witness box the rest of the session and will undergo further questioning tomorrow.

Highlight of his evidence was the admission during a "trial within a trial" and later before the 10-man, two-woman jury that he made 20,000 horse racing bets as a "private citizen" in 24 years—75 per cent of them illegally with city bookmakers.

"I bet on my own time," he said. "Not as a police officer."

Sheriff S. M. F. Woodie said if the bookie trial goes to four weeks it will be the lengthiest court house trial in his six years of office.

Longest trial within his recollection was the Ducharme murder trial which went 17 court days with the jury locked up 19 days.

In the present Assize Court case the first two days were used up in legal argument and picking the jury. The third day 13 witnesses were heard, but six of these are due for recall. They had to be stood down because the defense protested introduction of new evidence without prior notice from the prosecution.

Canada's Trade Deficit With U.S. Hits $479,000,000 for 1951

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 (CP)—Canada boosted purchases from the United States by almost $700,000,000 in 1951, ending the year with a $479,000,000 deficit, highest since 1947.

The Bureau of Statistics today estimated total purchases from the U.S. at $2,812,900,000. Exports, at $2,333,900,000, gained only $283,400,000.

The gain in imports swamped the surpluses in trade with other countries for an over-all deficit of $121,500,000. Total trade reached a record of more than $5,000,000,000, up $1,668,000,000.

Heavy flow into Canada of U.S. capital for investment in Canada's expanding economy kept official holdings of U.S. dollars and gold nearly steady, at $1,600,000,000.

Imports from the U.S. increased to 69 per cent of imports from all countries, compared to 67 per cent in 1950.

Imports from all countries increased to a peak of $4,084,900,000, up more than $900,000,000. Exports climbed to a record $3,063,400,000, a gain of about $800,000,000.

The $121,500,000 over-all deficit compared to $17,200,000 in 1950. Traditionally, since the depression years, Canada has had an over-all surplus in foreign trade.

Imports from the United Kingdom during 1951 totaled $421,000,000, up only $17,000,000. Exports to the U.K. increased to $635,800,000 from $472,500,000.

Calls Soften Blow Of Negative Vote

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18 (AP)—The telephone rang often Saturday night and Sunday at the crowded home of Sing Sheng—the Chinese who was voted out of all all-white residential area by a balloting which he suggested.

Sing, 25-year-old mechanic said the callers were mostly well-wishers. Many extended him an invitation to move to their area.

One of the calls came from Wichita, Kas., another from Indianapolis.

The calls helped soften "the biggest disappointment of my life." A 174-28 vote Saturday by the all-white Southwood residential district against Sing moving into a new house there.

Sing, his wife, small son, mother-in-law and sister-in-law now live in a two-bedroom house. And Sing's wife is expecting a baby.

Prior to the balloting by property owners, Sing agreed to abide by the outcome. But he was downcast.

"If that is their true feeling," he said Sunday, "the war in Korea is being fought for nothing."

On Isle of Capri

Gracie Weds Repairman

ISLE OF CAPRI, Feb. 18 (AP)—Shy and nervous, Gracie Fields was married on this romantic isle today to the man who came to fix her radio and stayed to win her heart.

The 54-year-old British stage and screen star appeared flushed as Boris Alperovici slipped the wedding ring on her hand and became her third husband. It was the first marriage for the 48-year-old Boris.

Her hand trembled visibly as she, in turn, placed a wedding band on the finger of the blonde, blue-eyed groom.

The 15-minute ceremony took place before the high altar of St. Stephen's Roman Catholic Cathedral.

Gracie was dressed in her favorite color purple. Boris wore a grey suit.

There were no flowers in the church because the couple had arrived unexpectedly from Rome earlier today.

The people of Capri thronged the church in a festive mood. Later they threw confetti at the couple and cheered lustily.

The British actress and Alperovici moved on to a private reception at Miss Field's beautiful villa, "Canzone de Mare" (Songs of the Sea).

The reception was a simple one, with only a handful of close friends present. Gracie has decided to distribute to Capri's poor the money a fancy wedding reception would have cost.

Oddities

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—What the world needs, said Mahomet Andieve to himself, is a nut cracker that wastes no time getting to the kernel of the problem.

According to a Tass News Agency report broadcast by Moscow Radio today he invented a nut cracker which cracks 1,320 pounds of nuts an hour, replacing 120 men who had been opening nuts in a primitive manner.

It is all the more remarkable, said Tass, because Andiev is 101 years old.

OSLO, Feb. 18 (AP)—Lt.-Gen. Olaf Helset of the Norwegian army was caught by a buck private trying to climb a guard fence at the Olympic 18-milometre ski race today.

"You've got to follow the rules, even if you are a general," said the private, who had been detailed to help control a crowd of 10,000.

Helset, commander-in-chief of Norway's southern military district, meekly withdrew.

Edmonton Imports Trained Policemen

EDMONTON, Feb. 18 (CP)—Twelve men and one woman from Scotland, all trained police personnel, will arrive here March 9 to join the Edmonton police force. They have signed on to the Edmonton force for at least a year.

Chief Constable Reg Jennings said today it is planned to have the group indoctrinated as a unit. The Scottish recruits will spend several weeks becoming familiar with the various city, provincial and criminal code statutes as well as Canadian court procedure and rules of the city department.

The chief said that when they are ready for assignments they will be distributed through different sections of the Edmonton force.

Five of the 12 men are married and their families are expected to come to Edmonton later.

The police department went after recruits in the United Kingdom after it found good Canadian candidates for police work were hard to find.

Bring On the Election

IN A matter of a few hours now the fourth, and final, session of the current British Columbia Legislature will be convening to hear the formal Speech from the Throne. That should indicate unequivocally what steps the administration proposes with regard to the demise of the Coalition and the calling of a general provincial election in which the electors can give a fresh mandate to those whom they wish to handle their affairs. It has not escaped public notice that it is "the Liberal caucus" which has replaced the Coalition one, but the Liberal Party was not elected to office at the last general election nor can it coalesce with itself.

Premier Johnson and an important section of the present interim cabinet are said to adhere to the view that this final session should be a winding up affair for the voting of supply for the routine purposes of the public service, and to make provision for a general election at the earliest possible moment. Constitutionally precedents are difficult to trace, but morally there is no doubt that this view is the correct one. No administration, however designated, should by expediency attempt to perpetuate itself in office after its mandate has run out. It is also said that the Premier is being opposed in his view by certain members of the cabinet and a section of the Liberal caucus. Well, the answers will come today. Whether Mr. Johnson maintains his view in the face of caucus conflict or not, many will admire him for holding it. It is the sober, responsible stand in the light of all the circumstances.

The fact that the Premier himself is breaking with set custom to move the Address in Reply, and therefore will be the first government member to enter the main debate, seems to indicate that Mr. Johnson is still in the saddle where his own followers are concerned. Regardless of the rights of others, and they have many, the Liberal Party could do itself irreparable harm by any manoeuvre savoring of a political trick at this time. The Coalition is ended. Not one Conservative remains within the cabinet or to the right of Madame Speaker. It is time for the electors to choose a new Legislature and a new Government at the ballot box, and that without further shuffle or delay.

Security of What?

DISCUSSING trends in trade union negotiations, a recent Canadian Press dispatch from Vancouver commented that the emphasis this year was more on security than on wage increases; on employer-financed schemes to give workers protection against sickness, accident, and the other hazards of living. The article concluded: "For the first time in the history of labor in this province, wages are playing almost second fiddle to security."

That is a view for which little support can be found in the request of unions now bargaining for new contracts. The evidence is that security plans, where requested, are in extension rather than instead of wage increases; and that many of the wage demands are higher than ever. For example, while the I.W.A. has dropped its campaign for a boost of 50 cents an hour, it is going after a substantial pay increase in another form. It now seeks a four-day week for the same take-home pay as at present, which in terms of work performed would be equivalent to a 20 per cent increase. It certainly cannot be said therefore that the I.W.A. is not asking for more money.

Among the unvarnished demands for higher pay the lowest seems to be around 20 cents an hour, which even in these times can scarcely be regarded as small. The highest is 75 cents, equivalent in the case of a worker enjoying full employment to an increase of $1,500 a year. The general average of wage increases sought leaves little room for supposition that wages are playing second fiddle to anything.

In all this there seems to be a serious threat to security in its most important aspect, which is the security of continuous and expanding employment. British Columbia today is paying a higher weekly average wage than any other province in Canada—$56.91, compared with Ontario's $54.08, the next highest, and Saskatchewan's $48.35 in the middle of the scale. When goods manufactured in eastern Canada can pay freight charges and still undersell British Columbia products there is small encouragement to industrial expansion here. Wider employment is one of the professed objectives of the trade union movement, but in this province some of the unions seem to be doing their best to drive jobs away.

A Generous Farewell

THERE could be no doubting the sincerity behind the simple words of farewell voiced by Earl Alexander over the week end as he left this country. The former governor-general was sorry to go; his personal choice would have been to finish his term at Rideau Hall. Only the call of duty, the offer of a post he could not refuse, forced his departure, for throughout his life duty has been the watchword of Lord Alexander as it was of the King he represented so ably in Canada.

The famous field marshal spoke highly of this nation. Its people, he said, were lucky in their immense natural possessions, but he could think of no people that better deserved such good fortune. That was a generous and kindly thing to say. It made of his reminder, that the things of the spirit were equally worth cherishing, a challenge to the best that is inherent in the people of this land.

Somewhat unusual, perhaps, was Lord Alexander's reference to his successor, for whom he bespoke the public support which had enhanced the pleasures of his own term of office; a reference no doubt due to the incidence that a native-born governor-general is to take his place. This departure from precedent was in itself typical of the acts that made his vice-regal years memorable in Canadian history, and reinforced the regret at his departure.

All who heard Lord Alexander's farewell message will recognize that in the British defense minister-designate this country has a warm and staunch friend. In turn they will extend equally sincere wishes for his own good fortune as he takes up the reins of a post important not only to the United Kingdom but indirectly to the Commonwealth as a whole.

TRIBUTE TO C.B.C.

Sir,—May I, through your columns, voice my appreciation and gratitude to the C.B.C. for the wonderful way they handled last week's tragic news and happenings? The beautiful music they gave us, as well as the dignified manner in which the unexpected sorrowful tidings were announced was a great solace and comfort at this time of grief and loss.

A REJOINDER

Sir,—Regarding Mr. D. A. McNaughton and his rebuttal to a proposed training period in the army overseas for new Canadians. It strikes me that Mr. McNaughton is using his letter more as a recruiting campaign than as an answer to the problem at hand.

He has missed the point of the debate entirely. The basic idea involved in giving a three-year training period to immigrants was to employ them as tradesmen, not as professional soldiers. They would be engaged in restoration and rebuilding, with proper time allotted for study and domestic idealism. They could work under competent engineers, at their own trades, rebuilding their own countries.

In answer to his suggestion that the executive of Machinists, Fitters and Helpers, Local No. 3, encourage their membership to join the reserve army, I have this to say, in checking over facts and figures, it comes to light that out of our entire membership, 80 per cent are returned men, some of them being veterans of not one, but two world wars. Some of these men are still actively engaged in the services as instructors, not as trainees mind you.

It would seem apparent to me that Mr. McNaughton does not deem this 80 per cent to be enough. These men have been trained, have overseas service in a theatre of war, and are still engaged in training future candidates for the services.

The other 20 per cent of the union is comprised of men who are above the age limit of the army, and of younger apprentices, some of whom do belong to the reserve army. These facts should, I hope, clear up and answer the letter by Mr. McNaughton.

E. T. GRANT.

LOYALTY DEMONSTRATED

Sir,—There have been in the past, indications of discontentment with murmurs of pessimism from those who appeared to look upon the Crown and British Empire with indifference and even hostility. This must have been only apparent.

The reaction of the people of this country to the two main events of recent months, namely, the visit to Canada of the former Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, and the death of King George VI, should allay any fears that may exist as to their loyalty to the Crown and Commonwealth and Empire.

It will be a disappointment to our enemies but it should strengthen the timid ones, the staunch need no help. If the peace-loving nations of the world hold together there is hope for peace eventually.

F. C. JOHNSON.

THE DOUGLAS VERSION

Sir,—Mrs. Arsens' insistence that what they have in Alberta is Social Credit as taught by its teacher, Major Douglas, reminds one of the cartoon in which a boy is saying to his father, "My teacher doesn't know what a horse is," to which his father replies, "Impossible!" "Well," said the boy, "I drew her a horse and she asked me what it was."

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

ONE night ten years ago an audience sat on the grass at Work Point while a blonde Lancashire lass wrapped them in golden threads of song and laughter.

Everything in the garden, she said, was "luvly." And it was.

Now, alas, things are not so luvly. Gracie, no need to give her surname, arrived in Rome the other day, quite peeved. There's been too much publicity about her next marriage!

Which is cause for smiling, I'm afraid—in disbelief.

How would the world know about her marital plans at all if they hadn't been broadcast, more than once and on purpose?

The aspidistra lady is slipping. The lass who sat in the Empress Hotel that day she arrived, thrust a comb nonchalantly through her locks, and invited newsmen to "help yourself to a slice of cake, lads," wasn't irked by publicity.

Far from it. She thrived on it.

* * *

As, of course, do all such creatures of the entertainment world, albeit not all of them deserve fame as much as does the inimitable Gracie. It was another movie star, so-called, who declared she'd rather be slandered than neglected, which sums up a philosophy much favored by those synthetic beings.

It is in their hoity-toity moods, perhaps, that they turn on the medium that makes their fortune, even though they know full well that once they cease being mentioned in print their heyday is over.

For some of them it's too bad it ever began.

I daresay, though, that even the hoity-toity mood is staged, since it attracts more attention than ever. That, no doubt, is why the Sinatras, the Hayworths and the Bergmans drag their romances over the front pages of half the world, taking time out every now and then to smash a camera or sweat at a reporter.

A pity the reporters don't leave them where Garbo always wants to be—alone. The silent treatment might work wonders.

Just the other week I read where James Mason, whom I had thought not quite so run-of-the-mill, rose from his seat in a theatre and punched on the nose some fellow who was talking too loudly for his (Mason's) taste.

The repercussions, of course, far exceeded the noise made by the offender, which is likely what the celluloid Rommel had in mind.

Then there is the almost daily story of some movie hero who not only sings "Sweet Adeline" in a raucous tenor at 2 a.m., but who insists on throttling half-a-dozen policemen into the bargain. This lands him in jail, temporarily, but it also lands him on the front page of some newspapers.

Which makes him happy, since such model behaviour swells his box-office value.

Gracie, now, I'd considered to be a mite different. She knows too much about clogs and shawls to put on airs that don't become her, and in truth the lass is not really a movie-actress. Her forte is the vaudeville stage, where her antics reveal a comedienne of the first degree, as common as clay but gifted with a divine sense of humorous reality. Normally she is too normal to be Hollywoodian.

But maybe Gracie's been affected too. She said here that the only thing her transplanted father didn't like about Hollywood was drinking beer out of cans. I would wish what Gracie wouldn't like is its double-talk about publicity.

And indulge in the habit herself.

Who would ever have heard of the Lancashire lass if it hadn't been for her aspidistra, and vice versa; and nights like the one at Work Point ten years ago.

Don't tell us at this late date, Gracie, that you really want to be ignored!

Reports From Ottawa

WITH the firing of four immigration clerks, the ring which was bringing Italian into the country illegally is believed to be out of business. Officials here say that all that remains to be done is to deport the unwanted immigrants as they are found, and perhaps to prosecute the Canadians implicated in the plot.

The clerks, three in Montreal and one in Rome, were described by an immigration department spokesmen as "little guys who were bought by the travel agencies to expedite the immigration of selected Italians".

The way the racket was worked at the Montreal end, he explained, was for an Italian family legally in the country to engage the services of a travel agency to bring brother Luigi or cousin Antonio to Canada. An agency representative would approach some farmer near Montreal and pay him perhaps $25 to sponsor the immigrant and promise to employ his on arrival.

The agency would then take the sponsorship to one of three "friendly" clerks whose duty it was to check such affidavits. The clerk, for a gratuity, would pass the addidavit automatically, jump the application at the head of the list, and cable Rome to send on brother Luigi to the farm job ready for him.

If Luigi met the department's health requirements, and were free from the taint of fascism and communism, the Rome office of the immigration department would visa his Italian passport. Then he would be free to come to Canada on the first available ship. And, of course, once here he'd go nowhere near his sponsor's farm.

* * *

But even that shortcut wasn't fast enough. Immigration officials here disclosed that the travel agencies made a deal with a Canadian clerk in the Rome office, paying him to issue visas to their clients automatically. This enabled Italians to enter Canada who were disqualified by the regulations governing health and political ideology, and to enter without having to await their turns in the long line of those who have applied to emigrate to this country.

* * *

Scores and perhaps hundreds of Italians entered Canada by these fraudulent means, and the R.C.M.P. is engaged in the difficult task of tracking them down. So far, about a dozen have been ordered deported to Italy.

Although the four clerks involved have been booted out of the government service, no prosecutions have yet been launched against them. The Rome man, an English-Canadian, was returned to Canada, but since then has gone back to Rome as a private citizen.

Ironically enough, he has opened his own travel agency there.

ED Maguire, our trade commissioner in Madrid, couldn't help but wonder at his hospitable reception when he was transferred to the Spanish capital two years ago. Not even in Buenos Aires and Santiago had he been wined, dined and otherwise entertained so lavishly.

But international politics being what they are, Maguire was on his guard. Spain was very desirous of reinstating herself in the good graces of the West, particularly those of the United States, and she might want to use Canada as a friend at court.

However, he put the unexpected friendliness of Spanish officialdom to good use. The other day it was announced that, largely through Maguire's efforts, Spain had agreed to unfreeze enough dollars to enable Spanish debtors to repay $650,000 they had owed to some 25 Canadian firms since before the Spanish Civil War 16 years ago.

Parenthetically, officials in Ottawa assert emphatically that there are no political strings attached to the settlement.

The Good Earth

(From The Windsor Star)

ONTARIO Minister of Public Works Fletcher S. Thomas in a Chatham address warned farmers against robbing their soil of its fertility. History proves a nation's power is calculated upon its land and productivity. Empires have fallen because agriculture collapsed, he said.

This is something which perhaps most city folk and even some farmers forget. Fertile soil is the most valuable possession of a nation. Without it, all other possessions are something of a superstructure without a foundation.

France, Germany and the Lowland countries, to cite examples, have been generally prosperous because they have paid attention to their soils. They have supported large populations, for their areas, because they kept their land in good condition. This continent became the richest part of the world primarily because of rich and abundant land. Coal, iron, oil and other minerals and the forests and fisheries have made their contribution, but a population necessary to develop these resources would not have been possible without the land.

That is one reason why it is so necessary farmers own their own land. They take pride in possession, cultivate it carefully, because it means their livelihood and that of their heirs. Tenant farmers, by nature, are a menace to the land. They haven't the same interest in keeping it fertile. They tend to "mine" the land, getting all they can out of it without replenishing its strength. There are exceptions, of course, but tenant-operated farms are those allowed to run down quickly.

Kings may come and go; governments may change; economic and social systems may be altered. But a people possessed of good soil and the determination to keep it good are the strong, virile and prosperous people.

MILLION-TO-ONE

Just to prove recovery was hopeless, the London sanitation superintendent took the owner of a lost diamond ring to inspect the city dump one day recently. He pointed to five tons of rubbish his men had already cleared in their search for "a small paper bag" said to contain the ring, and to countless other unsifted tons. "In fact," the superintendent said as he picked up a bag and shook the contents into his hand, "it's a million-to-one chance . . ."

He didn't finish the sentence. The ring was in his hand.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

THERE is a studied shabbiness about a good many newspapermen. If they are not shabby, then at least they affect a certain unconventionality in their clothes and hats. It is studied. They do it on purpose. Their purpose is to avoid being sent to report luncheons.

If there is anything that fazes a newspaperman it is the prospect of attending luncheons and banquets to report the remarks of the guest speakers. Keep your eye on the press table the next time you are at a luncheon, and see if you ever beheld a more melancholy group of humans. For you who belong to service clubs or other organizations that meet to hear messages of inspiration, it is all very well. You can stay home when you like. But a poor devil of a reporter has to go and go and go. You may suppose that the free lunch he gets with his press ticket ought to be some consolation. But meals served at luncheons and banquets become in time just as depressing as the speeches. It is either fried chicken or pork chops, with peas.

A nice-looking, well-dressed young man gets a job on a newspaper and is immediately pounced upon by his city editor as the perfect representative to attend public functions. None of his reporter colleagues tip him off. They commend him on his smart appearance. They encourage him to appear neat and tidy. It takes him about a year (by which time the poor lad is in a state of deep depression from hearing speeches, and his digestion is ruined) to get wise to himself. He views his dowdy colleagues with sudden understanding and respect. Within a week, he has acquired a seedy look, lets his hair grow, shaves every other day, neglects his shoes.

His city editor sighs, and starts looking around for a new slicker to cover the luncheons and banquets.

Male Fashions

By EILEEN ANDERSON, from London

SOME women say that they would prefer to be men, and, after seeing the very latest in men's fashions, I can't blame them. Here is a realm in which anyone is free to blaze a colorful trail through the desert of sober convention.

Man has only to add to his tailored suit a richly colored vest of figured silk or brocade to become at once a somebody. A dark cummerbund around his waist gains him immediate (if unexpressed) admiration. He can exchange his trilby for a jaunty model of colored twill; he can knot a silk cord in place of a tie; he can edge the pockets, cuffs and lapels of his suit with braid, or replace his tweed jacket with one of colored corduroy. By any of these changes, he contrives to look both smart and different.

* * *

Don't condemn such a man as "unmanly." You don't accuse a woman of losing her femininity simply because she has a severely tailored tweed suit in her wardrobe.

Why, then, pour scorn on the man who has one or two elegant, richly colored garments to relieve the gloom of dark grey flannels, sober pin stripes, and subdued checks?

The man who wants to be in the forefront of wardrobe brightness will have to act quickly. Listen to Alan Gilbert—head of an old-established London outfitter's shop.

"More and more men," he warned, "from the elderly and dignified to the 'gay young dogs,' are asking me for 'unusual' dress accessories." Gilbert himself was resplendent in an embroidered waistcoat, worn with morning coat and pin-striped trousers.

* * *

He went on: "They feel that color and novelty will bring some artificial sunshine into our rather cheerless modern world. So I provide them with waistcoats of rich old brocade, woven in a happier era, ruffle-trimmed shirts for evening wear, flat-fitting cummerbunds—which I expect to become even more popular when the new, very light-colored summer suits are on the market.

"I provide dignified, but richly hued, silk or quilted 'host' jackets to correspond with their wives' 'hostess' gowns, or vertically pleated silk ties which hang as smoothly as plain ones, but are more interesting to look at. (And please remember to wear a tie pin.) All these are rapidly becoming popular—and the men who ask for them are far from effeminate."

I wondered what kind of brocade would look appropriate with regulation tweeds or striped suitings.

"Very dark wine red for a grey suit," replied Gilbert. "Brocade of black, green damask for either brown or green." He teamed up the colors as he spoke. They looked well.

* * *

Sportsmen were catered for, too. Tiny grey and red fishermen's fly baits were embroidered on a navy silk ground, wire-haired terriers gave a very "pedigree" air to dark blue silk. Either material toned tastefully with blue or grey suits.

From Anthony Sinclair, who tailors clothes of many actors, comes the news that braid to match the color of the suit edges revers, pockets and cuffs of the latest suits.

The fashion "line" is slimmer than for the last few seasons, the waist slightly indented, shoulders very slightly sloped, with little padding. Trousers are rather narrow, and overcoats single breasted, with black or navy velvet collars and cuffs.

Industry-Moving Scheme Outlined Here by Briton

Operation British Commonwealth, a sweeping new design aimed at moving to the United Kingdom's industries and skilled manpower to other Commonwealth countries, was described in Victoria last night by a representative of the Migration Council.

James Meldrum, O.B.E., of London, assistant vice-chairman described the council as a voluntary body organized in 1950 to promote the deployment of industry and manpower from the British Isles to Commonwealth countries.

Specifically named were Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Southern Rhodesia.

He said the plan called for the transfer of industries now concentrated in the over-populated "target area" of the U.K. to the five named countries.

"Existing side by side is an overcrowded Britain dependent on imports of raw materials and food," Mr. Meldrum said, "and the picture of Canada's century now emerging before the eyes of industrialists of the world."

MUTUAL PROBLEMS

The council was suggesting that the prime ministers of the countries concerned, call a conference to discuss mutual problems in the distribution of industry and manpower, the council representative said.

From such a conference should come a commonwealth development and migration committee drawing on industrialists, financiers and trade unionists for expert advice, he added.

"Get the people to the food and the workers to the source of raw material—that's the 20th century pattern," he said. "The industrial revolution has now reached afound the world there is no point in concentrating industry in the U.K.

"In 1859 one man-power labor hour in U.K. industry could command the product of 100 man-power labor hours in agriculture in south-east Asia," he estimated. "Now all that's gone by the board.

"The way to liquidate the U.K.'s debt is to invest its industries and skilled manpower in countries like Canada—capable of their development," he said.

LEADING INDUSTRIALISTS

The Migration Council had the backing of many leading U.K. industrialists and political leaders, Mr. Meldrum said. "But the drive for Operation Commonwealth should come from Canada and the other Commonwealth countries."

He said there were 7,500,000 square miles in the five Commonwealth countries named in the Migration Council proposals, with 74,000,000 inhabitants of European stock.

"Fifty millions of those peoples and the bulk of the industry is still concentrated in the 94,000 square miles of the U.K.," he pointed out.

Warden Shoots Cougar In Central Saanich Tree

A five-hour tramp through Central Saanich on Sunday by Game Warden Joseph Jones and Harold Luney resulted in the capture of a 125-pound, seven-foot female cougar.

Assisted by Jones' cougar hounds, the two men finally caught up with the huge beast on the Saanich Experimental Farm, where it was treed and shot by Luney.

First hint that the wildcat was roaming around the populated sections of Saanich came from Gus Underwood, who spotted the tracks in the snow near the East Saanich Indian Reserve.

He phoned Police Chief Vernon J. Lawley, who in turn got in touch with Jones and Luney.

Saanich Opposes Higher Bus Fares

Saanich councillors gave a B.C. Electric Co. team of officials, including Vice-President E. W. Arnott, some rough riding during talks on the proposed fare increase at last night's council session.

Mr. Arnott, presenting the company's reasons for asking increased fares, said, "There is no definite end in sight to rising costs.

"I cannot stress the seriousness of the situation too heavily. If we were not in the light and power [illegible] transportation, we would have been broke long ago."

If the increase is not granted, Mr. Arnott said, the company faces an operating deficit of $411,000.

Councillors Passmore and Wootten teamed up to block the acceptance by council of the increase, although final decision rests with the Public Utilities Commission.

Councillor Passmore said, "I'm a bit of a cynic when it comes to the Public Utilities Commission. I better not say what I think of them. They'll put this increase through whatever we say."

Feeling of several councillors was that if transportation fares are increased, light bills should be cut.

Mr. Arnott said, "We agree that the fare increase is high, but many American cities have fares of 15, 16 and 17 cents."

Councillor H. K. Bate suggested that one fare should be charged in zones one and two, to equalize the increase. "Why not a fare of 12 cents or so across both those zones, so that Saanich in Zone three doesn't subsidize the others?"

Councillor Passmore said, "And Alderman Waldo Skillings (of Victoria) would drop dead."

Mr. Arnott said that Victoria transit zoning compares favorably with the best in the United States. Main complaint of Saanich councillors is that their municipality comprises almost all of zone three, and they feel Saanich population is bearing most of the load of any proposed fare increase.

Council decided to reserve the right to be represented at the Public Utilities Commission hearing on the increase.

Smooth Ozarkian Hillbilly From Possum Trot Makes Awful Liar Out of L'il Abner Creator

By BARNEY McKINLEY

A "hillbilly" name of Leonard Hall, right from "Possum Trot," in the legendary Ozarks of Missouri, snuck into Victoria yesterday and made an awful liar out of Al Capp.

According to the stuff Mr. Capp has been feeding us lowlanders in his "L'il Abner" comic strip, Mr. Hall should be a pretty ignorant fellow who maybe even isn't quite comfortable in shoes.

As a matter of fact the famous author, conservationist and lecturer was wearing a pair of highly-polished Wellingtons that didn't seem to bother him at all.

He was in Victoria one of two Canadian cities he's visiting on the present 12,000-mile tour, the other is Vancouver, to give his lecture and show a colored film on 12 United States national parks.

The visit is under the auspices of the Victoria Natural History Society and the Audubon Society of Canada and is booked as a top feature on the year's list.

Mr. Hall, a neat dresser with a small trim beard, is a genuine Ozarkian—shame to Al Capp. He was born in the Ozark territory where his father was a country doctor and he knows a lot about fishing and float-boating on Missouri streams.

But he's managed to do a little more than raise turnips. Writer of a column in The St. Louis Post-Dispatch for the past 10 years, he is also a well-known contributor to Outdoor Life, Saturday Evening Post, other magazines.

On his "Possum Trot Farm," named, incidentally, after the mountain phrase for a game crossing, he raises diversified crops, 200 head of white-faced cattle. Along with that goes a 1,200-acre forestry conservation project.

And to complete Mr. Capp's discomfiture, Mr. Hall of Possum Trot doesn't even drawl.

Two City Men Pay Tribute At Honolulu

Two Victoria men have honored U.S. Navy Pearl Harbor casualties in a recent ceremony at Honolulu.

Col. Brooke Stephenson and Dr. William G. Wilson, who, with their wives are holidaying in Hawaii, placed wreaths on the U.S.S. Arizona's memorial plaque while the vessel was anchored in Pearl Harbor.

Before placing the wreaths, Dr. Wilson, a retired minister, said: "In loving and grateful memory of the brave men who gave their lives that we might be free, we, here now, from Victoria, British Columbia, place these wreaths in appreciation, affection and sympathy."

The brief, impromptu ceremony was reported in The Honolulu Advertiser.

Remember when you got

The Most Wonderful Bike in the World?

Sure you do!

Even now you can picture how your first bike looked in all its glorious, sparkling newness . . . how the other kids envied you . . . and how, suddenly, you felt that you had wings!

And do you remember how you got the money for it? The dimes and quarters you saved out of your allowance weren't enough. So you earned extra change doing chores. Slowly, so slowly, the total grew. Then, one great day, the bike was yours!

You learned then about the necessity for saving to get some of the things you want most. But has time dimmed your memory of the lesson you learned so long ago?

If so, remember — nothing has changed your needs for money in the future. Nor has any magic substitute been found for thrift.

Today, millions of Canadians are practising their good habit of thrift by keeping up their life insurance payments to protect their families, while saving for the future. They've discovered that, to reach their goals, they must put money aside regularly.

Are you following their example?

Life insurance works for you these other ways:

Every dollar you set aside in life insurance (or save in bank deposits or savings bonds) helps to check inflation, thus protecting the value of all your money.

Life insurance helps improve your living standards, too. For a large part of each dollar you pay in premiums is invested for you in ways that help provide new homes, schools, highways, power plants and other vital projects throughout the nation.

Thus today, when you put aside money in life insurance, you are providing security for yourself and your family . . . working to check inflation . . . and promoting progress for all.

Where do they get Nickel?

"Son, about 90 per cent of all the nickel used in the world comes from Canada. The Inco nickel mines and smelters are the biggest in the world. They are near Sudbury, Ontario. Some of the mines are nearly a mile deep. Altogether there are over 280 miles of underground tunnels."

"At Sudbury millions of dollars have been spent developing better methods of producing nickel. That is one reason why Canada produces 90 per cent of the nickel used in the world. Today most of it is going into the defence programme."

Board Declines to Check Teachers' Outside Jobs

The Greater Victoria School Board has no jurisdiction over teachers who augment their incomes by spare-time work.

This will be the board's answer to the Victoria branch, Professional Photographers' Association of B.C., who said an Oak Bay teacher has been advertising "portraits taken in your own home."

The photographers' group said it did not deny the right of the teacher to earn extra income, but wanted the board's policy explained.

Summer School Set

These Greater Victoria schools will be used by students at this year's summer school of education.

Summer school director E. H. Johnson had his request granted last night by the Greater Victoria School Board for the use of the Victoria High School classrooms in the F. T. Fairey Technical Unit, and some in the Spring Ridge School.

Summer school sessions are scheduled for July 2 to Aug. 1.

Still Growing Leduc Oil Field Celebrates Its Fifth Birthday

CALGARY, Feb. 18 (CP)—The Leduc oil field, which generated the spark for a whole new era of oil exploration and development in Western Canada, celebrated its fifth anniversary last week without fanfare.

Imperial Leduc No. 1, the discovery well that ended years of discouraging dry-hole drilling in Alberta, went on production Feb. 13, 1947.

Since then 827 oil wells have been successfully completed in the region now classed as the Leduc-Woodbend-Calmar-Kavanagh area. By the end of 1951 approximately 39,000,000 barrels of crude oil had been produced from that region.

Leduc, almost two years older than the fabulous Redwater field, Canada's biggest, has taken a lot longer to develop. Redwater, with 905 wells capable of production, now is nearing the end of its development. And oil men figure the Leduc field probably will become fully defined this year.

RECORD WILDCATTING

While Alberta's two biggest fields almost fully developed, a record 1952 wildcat drilling program will be aimed at discovering new major fields to maintain the rapid development pace of the last few years.

The effect of Redwater's near-maturity is illustrated in figures released by the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board.

The number of new oil producers brought in during 1951 in ratio to wells drilled was 10 per cent less than in 1950.

Of a total of 1,179 wells drilled in Alberta last year, 763 or 64 per cent resulted in oil producers. During 1950, there were 753 oil strikes or 74 per cent of the 1,009 wells drilled.

During 1950 Redwater accounted for 455 of the 753 producers. Last year only 165 of the province's 753 producers were at Redwater.

The two main reasons for the lower 1951 percentage were that Redwater reached its peak of development during that year and 1951 also saw the first real search for natural gas to support arguments for gas export.

Last year's wildcatting brought numerous extensions and new oil pool discoveries in the general Leduc area.

More than 900 oil wells now are capable of producing oil in the 36-mile-long, 25-mile-wide belt to the south, west and southwest and Edmonton.

Development and exploratory drilling operations in the general Leduc-Edmonton area are continuing at an accelerated pace. More than 50 drilling rigs are operating in the Leduc area alone and another dozen or more are in fields or oil pools adjacent to it.

Investment Fund Shifts Allegiance to Montreal

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Indication of the growing importance of the Canadian stock exchanges is evidenced by the fact that the Canadian Investment Fund, operated by Calvin Bullock of New York, is henceforth to use the Montreal Stock Exchange instead of the New York Stock Exchange as its chief vehicle.

The directors of C.I.F. in a letter to shareholders, say that for the purpose of determining liquidating values, both for the redemption and issue of shares, the days when the Montreal Stock market is open will be the deciding factor.

In view of the fact that the large preponderance of the company's investments are Canadian it is felt to be more logical and more practicable to make this change.

In addition, the C.I.F. intends to change its methods of purchasing its special shares for liquidation. Instead of requiring prior delivery of stock certificates and without having to wait until a subsequent date to determine the price, the liquidating price may be given at any time the Montreal Stock Exchange is open for business.

This will be a considerable advantage to holders of C.I.F. who live remote from Montreal, and who want to liquidate at a set price quickly. Under the new proposal they, or their agents, will be able to get a price for the C.I.F. shares direct and before passing over the stock certificate.

MIXED DRINKS

Among the more sensitive sections of the stock markets are those which are liable to come under further government restrictions, or higher taxation.

The distilling companies come into this category and the big two of Canadian firms in this line, Distillers-Corporation-Seagram, and Hiram-Walker, Gooderham and Worts, have both slipped steadily from their high levels during the past two months. Walker's is now about $15 below its top of 1951.

Evidence that the troubles of the hard stuff is spreading into the mixer class is forthcoming from New York. An announcement yesterday by Canada Dry Ginger Ale Incorporated said that the quarterly dividend of the company would be reduced from 20 cents to 12½ cents.

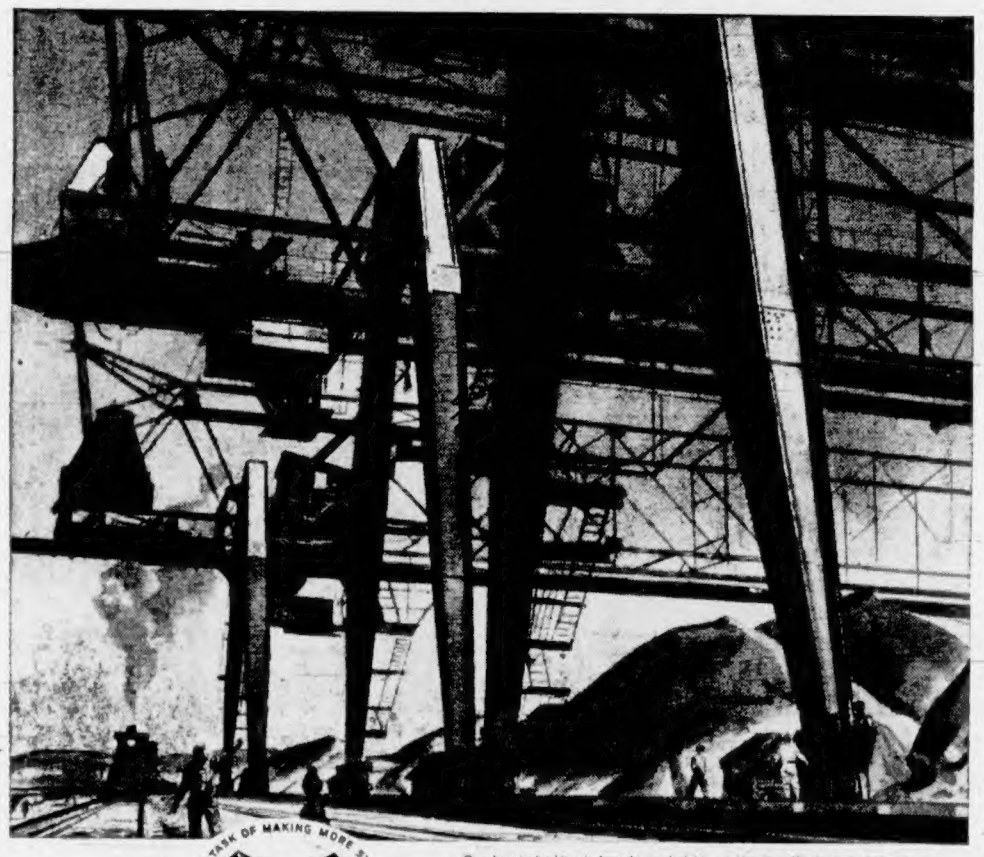
Canada's biggest moving job



Ore for steelmaking is brought to dockside at Hamilton Works in lakethon-size ore freighters. Here it is unloaded by buckets which hold up to 17 tons, and travel from the ship's hold to the storage yards in background over these giant ore bridges.

THE TASK OF MAKING MORE STEEL NEVER STOPS
STELCO

Facts about STEELMAKING

2,750,000 tons of cargo are unloaded each year at Stelco's docks.

80,000,000 gallons of oil are needed each year for Stelco's furnaces.

2,750,000 tons of coal are used each year.

Stelco's steelmaking capacity will increase to 2,000,000 tons annually before the end of this year.

Pictured above are three towering "ore bridges" at Stelco's main steelplant. They are used to unload the huge carriers that bring ore and other materials to dockside. Each bridge weighs over 1350 tons, is 678 feet long and towers 120 feet above track level. To move one of these bridges to a new location is a giant task . . . to move all three—while keeping ore, coke, scrap and limestone moving to the furnaces at the rate of 10,000 tons every day—seems almost superhuman. Yet that is just one of many jobs the Stelco team is carrying out smoothly and efficiently in a planned, fast-moving expansion schedule. This future-minded program is giving Canada more steel today than ever before . . . and when completed this year, will provide 40% more Stelco steel annually.

Canada needs steel to be strong . . . and Canadians can count on Stelco to make it.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG, Feb. 18 (CP)—Coarse grains showed the best tone as prices moved narrowly in dull trade.

Light offerings and only small demand were the main factors in the trade. Steadiness in most United States markets also was reflected here.

Rye eased off in late trade, mostly due to lack of good buying. Flax was irregular.

There was no information available on export loadings of Canadian wheat.

Class two wheat and I.W.A. prices dropped one-eighth cent from Saturday.

Stock Market Begins Week On Low Note

TORONTO, Feb. 18 (CP)—Industrial and base metal prices [illegible] western oils dipped irregularly.

Manufacturing companies, refining oils, papers and constructions led industrials lower while agricultures, steels, foods, liquors, banks, textiles and miscellaneous issues weakened steadily. Utilities and retail stores held gains and losses in balance.

Western oil losses ranged to about 50 cents. Calmont, Canada Southern, Canadian Atlantic, Canadian Williston, Devon-Leduc, Gridoil, North Canadian and Western Leaseholds were among the heaviest losers.

In base metals Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay, International Nickel, Labrador, Noranda, Steep Rock, United Keno Hill and Waite Amulet posted losses ranging to about $1.

Clark Scores as Cleaners Make Comeback

Johnny Clark, pivotman for Victoria Individuals, goes up unmolested for basket as Cleaners made great comeback last night to tie series with Alberni Athletics for Vancouver Island senior "A" men's basketball title. Don "Twitter" Hill of Alberni is partially hidden by Clark while Doug Peden (52) and Bob Boyes (54) of Cleaners wait for possible rebound. Individuals Even Island Hoop Series; Peden Spark in Great Comeback Win

By JIM EDDIE

Alberni Athletics apparently had the 1952 Vancouver Island senior "A" men's basketball championship all but wrapped up at the half-time interval last night but they did not count on the determination of an ancient veteran and his plucky band of Victoria hoopsters.

Playing coach Doug Peden, star of the 1935 Victoria Blue Ribbon team that won the Canadian championship, brought back nostalgic memories to a slim crowd of 350 as he sparked Victoria Individuals in one of the greatest comebacks in recent basketball history. Peden was a driving force and contributed eight points in the second half as Individuals overcame a 13-point half-time deficit and won going away, 50-44, to tie the best-of-five series at one game each.

FINISH AT ALBERNI

Alberni copped the opener, 49-48, Saturday and would have held a two-game lead with a victory last night and the advantage of the remaining games on its own floor. "Third game will be played at Alberni Friday with the fourth on the same floor Saturday and the fifth, if necessary, next Monday.

Alberni could do no wrong in the first half while Individuals had tough luck with their shots. Joe Samarin dunked four baskets in the first quarter as Athletics jumped into an early 14-3 lead and took a 16-7 quarter margin with John Clark counting all-but one of Individuals' points. Samarin was stopped completely for the balance of the game but Joe Buchanan and Jack Forrest took over the scoring load for the Athletics in the second quarter as they extended their margin to 31-18 at the half.

COMPLETE CHANGE

The complete change in the complexion of the game was apparent in the early minutes of the third quarter as the Victoria defense tightened while the attack increased its tempo.

Bob Boyes, Clark and Vince Clarkson pushed up seven straight points to reduce the deficit to 25-31 before Alberni rallied slightly. Peden hit on a couple of long "peg shots" that took the fight out of the Athletics and Individuals came on again to trail only 34-39 at the third quarter.

Athletics were forced to call time out with less than a minute played in the final quarter when Individuals cut the margin to two points. Buchanan replied with a hook shot immediately following the time out but that was the extent of the Alberni attack until the final seconds, when the game was hopelessly lost.

MISS FAN SUPPORT

Curtis converted two free throws and Peden dropped in another long peg shot to tie the count at 41-41 with five minutes left. Clarkson and Boyes hit successive long shots within the next minute and Athletics, minus the vocal support of Alberni fans, collapsed completely.

In the final tabulation, it was the performance from the free throw strip that spelled the difference. Each clubs was awarded 22 gift tosses with Individuals converting 16 and Athletics only managing eight. Referees Wally Henderson of Vancouver and Glen Bryant of Alberni called 18 fouls on Individuals and 17 on Alberni.

EVERYONE A STAR

Peden was the standout, both offensively and defensively, although all members of Individuals turned in sterling efforts in the great comeback. Clark shared scoring honors with Buchanan, each getting 14 points, and did yeoman work under the backboards. Clarkson and Boyes gave strong two-way games and Curtis was strong defensively, contributing a five-for-five performance from the strip.

Kermode lacked his usual effectiveness offensively but was the bulwark of the Alberni defense.

In preliminary exhibition midget games, Tillicums downed St. Louis College, 29-21, in a boys' contest and Saanichton edged [illegible]

Our 1952 Manager?

CECE "RABBIT" GARRIOTT

Agreement on terms is all that is necessary for former Coast League outfield star to become manager of 1952 Victoria Athletics. Garriott will arrive here today or tomorrow to talk contract with officials of Victoria club and there seems no doubt that he will be signed. Now 35 years of age, Garriott started organized baseball career in 1936 at Columbus, Ga., and has been at it ever since except for two-season stint in U.S. Army. About half of baseball career was spent with Los Angeles and records show stocky outfielder has good extra-base punch and speed. He led leagues in stolen bases four times.

A's Start April 1 At Salinas

Unless there is an unexpected last-minute hitch in arrangements, Victoria Athletics will open their spring training at Salinas on April 1.

The bustling little California city (33,000), about 90 miles south of San Francisco, is anxious to get the Victoria club and has offered a training bargain. The A's can have full use of a modern park, including lighting and clubhouse facilities, for 10 per cent of gross gates of any exhibition games they may play. While Victoria officials have yet to sign the contract, acceptance is a foregone conclusion.

Business manager Reg Patterson stated last night that the April 1 date, opening day of Coast League play, was chosen to enable players to join the A's direct from the Portland training camp at Riverside. He was certain there would be no difficulty in arranging a full slate of exhibition games with University of California, Stanford, Santa Clara, San Jose and Salinas teams as well as Spokane Indians, all available in the vicinity.

Wheelers Blank Nanaimo

VANCOUVER, Feb. 18 (CP).—Vancouver Wheelers, who apparently have been saving up all season for this one, tonight blanked Nanaimo Clippers 3-0 in the first game of the Pacific Coast Senior Amateur Hockey League play-offs.

Second game of the best-of-seven series between the two teams which compose the entire league will be played tomorrow night in Nanaimo.

Wheelers zipped into a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by Ted Sims and Fergy Ferguson, a former Nanaimo player, and Ferguson finished off the game's scoring with a goal at 5:51 of the second.

First period—1, Vancouver, Sims (Ritzinger, Chmelyk) 37. 2, Vancouver, Ferguson (Lavery, Leek) 4:22. Penalties, Fennell, O'Hara, Swanda, Fennell.

Second period—3, Vancouver, Ferguson (Leek, H. Lovett) 5:51. Penalties, Fennell, Leek, Gaudet.

Third period—Scoring none. Penalties, Leek, Lundmark, Mortenson, Butler (served by G. Lovett), Shamlock, Vickers.

Lone Playoff On Tonight's Hoop Program

There will be only one basketball game played at Victoria High School tonight. Eaglettes and Lake Cowichan will tangle in the second game of a two-game total-point series for the Lower Island junior girls' title, at 7:30 o'clock.

Eaglettes hold a 10-point lead in the series following a 31-21 victory last week.

Scott & Wright will meet Lake Cowichan in the second game of a two-game total-point series for the L.I. junior boys' crown, tomorrow at 7:30 o'clock. Scott & Wright won the opener, 55-23.

Arrow Furniture and Chemainus will open a two-game total-point series for the Lower Island senior "B" men's championship tomorrow at 8:30 o'clock.

Next games, tonight, Vancouver at Victoria; Tacoma at Edmonton.

Tacoma Rockets extended their undefeated streak to 12 games, one short of the P.C.H.L. record set earlier this season by New Westminster Royals, at Calgary last night—but not without some trouble.

Only the excellent goaling of Doug Stevenson enabled Rockets to come from behind 3-0 and 4-1 deficits to gain a stalemate with two third-period goals.

ROCKETS NEAR QUAKERS

The point split left Rockets in third place, four points behind Saskatoon and seven ahead of Edmonton, and left Stampeders six points behind the sixth-place Vancouver Canucks and three points ahead of the trailing Victoria Cougars.

The Cougars, who kept alive faint play-off hopes with a 7-3 triumph over the ironmen at Seattle on Sunday, tangle with Canucks here tonight in a crucial four-pointer which could leave them either 11 or seven points out of sixth place.

NEW WINGER HERE

The Victoria line-up was not announced last night but the Cougars will present winger Les Hickey for the first time on Victoria ice. Hickey, who has played in the U.S.H.L. and A.H.L., joined the club in Seattle Sunday from Buffalo.

Jack McIntyre paced the Cougars Sunday night, tying a league mark by scoring two unassisted goals in one game and helping set up two other goals for his biggest night since early season. Reg Abbott also scored twice for the Cougars, who broke a seven-game losing streak and rebounded from a 9-2 lacing in Tacoma Saturday night for their first win in 17 games.

Ice-Speedster Paces Norwegians To Big Lead in Winter Olympics

HOW THEY STAND

Unofficial point standings of countries at the 1952 Olympic Games, with 10 events completed, three of them today—standings based on 10-5-4-3-2-1 basis for first six places:

Norway	74
Austria	41
United States	31½
Finland	21
Germany	19
Holland	17
Italy	17
Switzerland	13
Sweden	6½
Canada	2½
France	2
Belgium	1
Japan	½

OSLO, Feb. 18 (CP).—Hjalmar Andersen, Norway's phantom of the ice lanes, became the first double gold-medal winner of the 1952 games as he led his countrymen to a triple slam in the blizzard-swept Winter Olympic Games today.

The three firsts, along with two placings for third, one for fifth and two for sixth, sent Norway to the top for unofficial team honors with 74 points. Both Austria and the United States failed to score a point in today's three championships. The Americans have gone pointless for two straight days.

SET RECORD SUNDAY

Before a feverish crowd of 28,000 in the huge Bislett Stadium Andersen streaked to victory in the 1,500-metre speed skating race in 2:20.6, 2.8 off the record. In the same stadium Sunday, he skated to an Olympic record of 8:10.6 in the 5,000-metre race, clipping nine full seconds off the old mark. It was his 52nd consecutive victory over 5,000-metre distances.

Simon Slaatvik and Helgeir Brenden were Andersen's mates who contributed to Norway's triple. Slaatvik won the Nordic Combines, linking his winning ski jump of Sunday to a 15th placing in today's rugged 18-kilometre cross-country ski race. This ski marathon, of about 11¼ miles, counts as a separate Olympic championship. In winning the gruelling race in 1:1:34, Brenden made the fastest time ever recorded for the event in the Olympics, but it doesn't go into the books as a record. Skiing marks are not recognized because of the varying course conditions.

CANADIAN 16TH

Craig McKay of Saskatoon was top man among the four Canadians entered in today's events. He placed 16th in the 1,500-metre race. Ralp Olin of Calgary was 29th, MacKay was first placed 14th but later checking of times among the late finishers moved him down two notches.

MacKay had to beat his own Canadian record to place 16th, finishing in 2:25, a full second under the Canadian mark.

Snow began falling soon after Andersen finished, and later starters, including MacKay, had to race against a blinding snow storm.

ALTWEGG LEADS

The women figure skaters ended their compulsory figures Sunday and Britain's Jeannette Altwegg is so far out in front that she is expected to take the championship easily when the free-skating phase of the event is held, Wednesday.

Tenley Albright, 16-year-old school girl from Newton Centre, Mass., was closest to Miss Altwegg, while Suzanne Morrow of Toronto, Canada's chief hope, was sixth.

Austria's Mrs. Trude Jochum Beiser, a gold medalist in the 1948 Olympic Games as combined ski champion, won the women's downhill event Sunday. She was clocked in 1:47.1 for the 1,400-metre course. Joanne Hewson, 20-year-old Montreal girl, made a remarkably good showing against the top women skiers of Europe, and placed eighth.

Mercurys Swamp Poland For Third Olympic Win

OSLO, Feb. 18 (CP).—Edmonton Mercurys romped through a snow storm tonight to hand Poland's weak hockey team an 11-0 shutout and wrap up Canada's third victory without a loss in the Olympic Hockey Championship series.

As far as hockey prestige is concerned, the result meant little or nothing. The best that could be said about the Poles, who absorbed their fourth straight shellacking, is that they tried hard. In a hockey sense, they didn't belong on the same ice as the Canadians.

START EARLY

The Mercurys started piling up an early lead and then played as if they weren't too anxious to fatten their scoring averages at the expense of such opposition. George Abel led the scoring parade with three goals. The players flipped the puck about in great glee and eight of them scored singletons.

Like some of the other European teams, the Poles appear to know little about body checking. They also try to play for re-bounds out of the corners and they don't seem to have any idea about covering their opponents.

The Canadians will run into stiffer opposition tomorrow when they meet the Czechoslovakians. Sweden, currently heading the standings with four straight triumphs, receives a bye.

In other games yesterday, Sweden defeated Germany 7-3, the United States won 8-2, over Finland, and Switzerland defeated Norway, 7-2.

On Sunday, the Canadians whipped Finland, 13-3; Sweden edged Norway, 4-2; Switzerland defeated Poland, 6-3; and Czechoslovakia downed Germany, 6-1. The Americans were idle.

Howe Gets Two as Wings Move 15 Points in Front

[illegible]

Gordie Howe scored two goals in the last eight minutes to lead the Detroit Red Wings to a 4-2 victory over the Boston Bruins before 12,597 fans at Detroit last night.

It was the first-place Wings sixth straight triumph and boosted their National Hockey League lead to 15 points, the biggest margin they have enjoyed all season.

Howe's two goals were his 32nd and 33rd of the current campaign, tops in the loop. The last one was a 60-foot shot into an empty cage after goalie Jim Henry had been pulled with 55 seconds remaining.

Montreal Canadiens failed to pull out of a second-place tie with Toronto Maple Leafs as they dropped a 3-2 decision to New York Rangers Sunday. The Leafs were idle.

Boston Bruins remained in a fourth-place deadlock with the Rangers by trouncing the lowly Chicago Black Hawks, 5-2, at Chicago.

Burke Scores Record 260 In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 18 (AP).—Jack Burke, Jr., son of a Houston, Tex., golf professional, smashed the P.G.A. record for 72 holes today to win the $10,000 Texas open with a total of 260.

The 29-year-old links star, winning his first tournament in two years, finished with a seven-under-par 64 on each of his last rounds. He had 67 in his first round and 65 the second.

The record for 72 holes on a par 71 course was 261 set in 1946 at Portland, Ore., by Ben Hogan.

O'Brien Near Two College Cage Records

Johnny O'Brien, sensational start of the Seattle University basketball team is only three points short of one U.S. college record and has an excellent chance to break the all-time scoring mark of 967 points in one season.

Scoring 83 points in two week-end games against Gonzago, including an all-time Northwest high of 47 Saturday, O'Brien increased his season's total to 859 points in 31 games, an average of 27.7. He has five games in which to get the 109 points and should make it off his present pace.

O'Brien also increased his free-throw total to 289 points on Saturday and needs to cash only three more gift tosses, a virtual certainty, to set a new high.

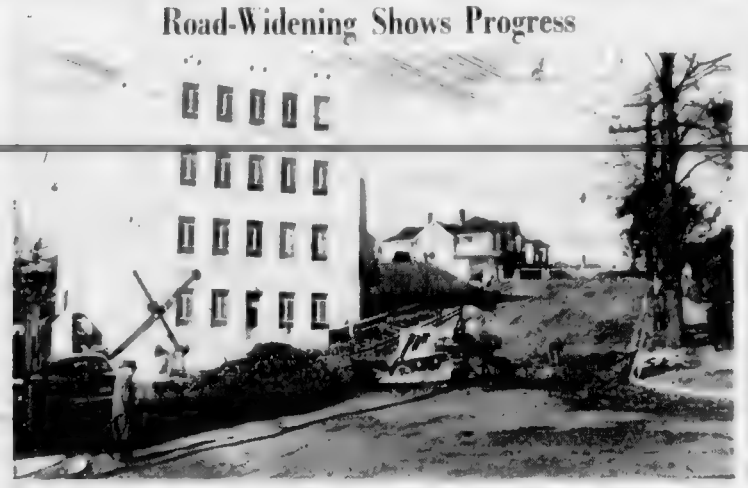
NO. 58—NINETY-FOURTH YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1952 SECOND NEWS SECTION

Road-Widening Shows Progress



Its middle-of-the-road curb moved to point right foot from B.C. Power Commission property, the Burnaby Street hill begins to take on appearance of 36-foot roadway as planned. Bulldozer, yesterday cut off old surface in preparation for new black top. At bottom right is former site of giant cottonwood tree which was finally removed after months of wrangling in city council.—Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.

Police Ask Citizens To Help Curb Thefts

A series of petty breakins in residential areas of Victoria has brought an appeal from city police for assistance in tracking down the culprits.

Deputy Police Chief Harry Mercer yesterday asked residents who arrive home and notice anything unusual to call the police immediately.

"We have to work fast in these cases. Sometimes the burglar might still be in the house," he said.

Deputy Mercer also asked residents to pay more attention to locking doors when the home is unoccupied.

The request came from police following a $2,000 haul on Sunday at the home of H. F. Crowe, 1834 Craigdarroch.

Entry was gained by breaking the glass in a rear door with the metal top of an oil tank wrapped in a sack. A window was also broken.

The loot included a gold watch and Canadian lumber stocks valued at $3,000. Drawers were pulled out in the bedrooms, but the house was not ransacked, police said.

Earlier, the apartment of Mrs. G. Mason, 946 Queens, was entered while she was visiting a friend in an upstairs suite.

Missing from her purse was $16 and a tie pin with a pearl inset.

Price War in City Slashes Charges; Two Firms Battle

By HARRY YOUNG

Things are happening in the Victoria durable goods stores. A thinly disguised price war is being waged which has literally slashed about 25 per cent off the present prices of such articles as refrigerators, electric ranges, washers and radios.

Two firms are [illegible] battle [illegible] business at cut-rate prices. Both offer [illegible] prices for obsolete or [illegible] goods.

Esquimalt Councillor to Present Brief Opposing Increase in City Bus Fares

[illegible] Electric's proposed transit fare [illegible] be presented [illegible] Public Utilities Commission [illegible] C. G. F. Argyle of the Esquimalt [illegible]

At a special meeting [illegible] Esquimalt Municipal Council [illegible] Argyle will present [illegible] opposing the proposed increase [illegible] Victoria. The fare increase [illegible] $2,000 short of meeting operating expenses.

Reeve A. C. Watkiss suggested [illegible] would be necessary for [illegible] to go to a Utilities Board [illegible] the P.U.C. would have the figures.

"They will produce figures for themselves, not for you," Clr. Argyle replied.

T. W. Allen, municipal clerk, [illegible] council that if a brief was not prepared, council would be in the same position as at the time of the last raise in transit fares.

"We received a letter inviting [illegible] meeting, but were warned that unless we had some concrete evidence to produce why the company should not be granted the raise we might as well stay home," he said.

Clr. C. E. Cuthbert protested the preparing of the brief.

"Those figures are available to the public," Clr. Argyle answered.

"I for one would be very happy if Clr. Argyle could produce some facts and figures that would help our case," Reeve Wurtele said.

The traffic light question came up again, a letter from Police Chief G. S. Stancombe suggested pedestrian lights in place of traffic lights.

"Traffic entering Esquimalt is relatively small and does not warrant the installation of automatic traffic lights," the letter read.

The suggestion was held in abeyance until an estimate on pushbutton-type pedestrian lights could be obtained.

Uphill Takes Taxi On 711-Mile Trip

Colorful Thomas Uphill, veteran Labor M.L.A. from Fernie, was refused a hotel room in Vancouver because he looked like a holdup man after a 711-mile taxi trip from his hometown.

M. Uphill hired the taxi and three drivers, Frank Albert and Pat Bossio at 9 o'clock Tuesday and arrived in Vancouver at 1 a.m. Wednesday in order to be on time for the opening of the legislature today.

A series of downtown Vancouver hotels refused to book accommodation for the rumpled Mr. Uphill and his drivers, because the city was in the midst of a holdup scare.

Mr. Uphill, however, telephoned his friend, the hotel owner, and cleared up the difficulties.

Intermittently mayor of Fernie for 18 years, and an M.L.A. for 32 years, Mr. Uphill, despite his 70-odd years, awoke the next morning fresher than when he had started from Fernie, one of the cab drivers said.

With the Bossio brothers taking turns at the wheel, the taxi traveled through dangerous winter roads of Kingsgate, Idaho, Spokane, Stevens Pass and Wenatchee.

They had no trouble, although warned against the hazards of the trip by U.S. highway authorities.

The substitute teachers Association letter was filed.

South Seas Dream Trip Runs Afoul of Lawsuit

The voyage of the yacht Te Hongi began in Victoria last month and charted for the South Seas appears to have foundered in a Coos Bay, Ore., courtroom.

According to an International News service story from there, James Squire, Victoria insurance man, and B.C. amateur golf champion, is the defendant in a lawsuit filed by the former owner of the Te Hongi, Jacques Markwalder.

Markwalder, who sold the vessel to Squire after saying it was his last boat, now lives in Coos Bay.

He demands $1,150, claiming that Squire converted to his own use a radio receiver, a sextant, tools and personal belongings.

Squire is resting in the Coos Bay area after trying a week ago to sail southward on his trip to the South Pacific. His auxiliary engine broke down, the forestay blew out and heavy seas and strong headwinds forced him back. He was towed to a wharf by the Coast Guard after nearly going aground at the entrance to Coos Bay.

Gen. C. Vokes Due in City

Major-Gen. Christopher Vokes, General Officer Commanding Western Area Command, will arrive in Victoria tomorrow to carry out a three-day inspection of regimental establishments in the area.

Honor Guard, Salute Slated For Opening

A guard of honor will be in attendance as usual and the customary gun salute will be fired when Lieut.-Gov. Clarence Wallace officially opens the British Columbia legislature today.

Ceremonies here will follow the pattern set at Ottawa, official sources said last night. Earlier reports had indicated a sombre opening of the legislature because it falls at the start of the official period of mourning over the King's death.

For the first time in history it is believed an R.C.N. battery will be responsible for the salute.

SAME CREW

A 21-man Navy gunnery crew, the same one that fired the 56-minute guns here on the day of the King's funeral, will fire three Navy 12-pounder field pieces today.

The lieutenant-governor's dress was described as civil uniform, second class.

Mrs. Wallace will not attend the opening, the announcement said, and all invitations to the floor of the House have been cancelled.

Aides-de-camp to the lieutenant-governor are Commander Hew E. S. Paterson, Colonel R. L. Mitchell, Wing Commander J. D. D. Campbell and Superintendent C. W. Harrison, R.C.M.P.

Legal Question Delays Proposed Sewer System

[illegible]'s proposed $113,000 sewer system was delayed at least a week by a question of legality last night.

The sewer project will be shown to Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs B. C. Bracewell for his opinion as to its legality. Council will hold a special meeting next Monday to discuss the question again.

Reeve J. W. Casey said he was against any further delay of the start of the sewer.

Councillor E. P. Cummins raised the point of whether the system, as recommended by the sewer committee was legal or not. Charging the direction of the flow from the original plan as outlined in the by-law may render the scheme illegal, he said.

WHERE IN THE WORLD

WERE STAMPS ISSUED FOR LETTERS CARRIED BY PIGEONS?

TOWARD the end of the nineteenth century, a pigeon fanciers' club in Auckland, New Zealand, took a number of birds to Great Barrier Island—65 miles to the east—for a race. The release of that sixty-five mile hop across water inspired the organization of the original Great Barrier Pigeongram Service in 1907. For one shilling, small letters written on thin tissue sheets called "flimsies" were carried by pigeons from Great Barrier to Auckland, and within twelve months the service became so popular that special postage stamps were printed for the "flimsies". Although subsequent "pigeongram" stamp varieties were issued before the service was discontinued in 1001, all are scarce today, and any collector who owns one in good condition can boast a real philatelic gem.

Worst Production Problems Ahead For Red Atom Experts, Says Report

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (NANA). — Russia has three "atomgrads" producing atomic bombs under direct order of the politburo, according to reliable Swedish informants.

This information has been placed before Congressional committees in a private research report appraising the strength of Russia against that of the

The informants, identified only as coming from Sweden said that all three atomgrads are under ground plants, where laboratory bombs are produced under strict security conditions.

The first plant is in the Kushas region, the second near Lake Baikal, on the borders of outer Mongolia, and the third east of the Urals, northwest of the big industrial centre of Magnito-

The Swedes asserted that U.S. officials were misinformed if they believed that the first atomic bomb the Russians produced was given to them on a silver platter by American and Canadian spies and renegade scientists.

The bomb that the Russians finally succeeded in making was not the bomb that had been tested by the U.S. at Alamogordo, N.M., and later used against Hiroshima and Nagasaki in Japan, they declared.

What the Russians first developed was a bomb similar to the one that the Germans had made experimentally during the last war, using deuterium or heavy water, the top Swedish informant insisted.

"The Soviets must still start quantity production of uranium 235," he added.

The Swedish informants were quoted in the research report as saying that the Russians are desperately trying to catch up to the knowledge that the western powers have about the atomic bomb by taking short cuts.

But they said that the Russians still had the hardest work ahead of them, because they still have not mastered all the production know-how, which is the toughest problem of the atomic bomb.

"It was harder for the United States to put the bomb into production than to find out how to make it," the Swedish scientists pointed out.

FOUR YEARS BEHIND

Since the United States has mastered the production problem in all its aspects, the Swedes are of the impression that the Russians lag at least four years behind American development.

Until the Russians accumulate a stockpile of fissionables raw materials, it is doubtful that the Muscovite government can accumulate much of a stockpile of atomic bombs, regardless of politburo orders.

The informants said that the Kremlin was insisting on the utmost speed in atomic production, the work at the three underground laboratories being done under "forced conditions."

The Swedes said that the Russians probably would continue to have production difficulties indefinitely, despite this great emphasis on speed, for the reason that their industrial establishment simply was not geared to produce atomic bombs in quantity.

Sharp Mower To Cost More

Harold Price was elected president of the Victoria Locksmith and Grinders' Association at a recent meeting. A. J. Worth was named secretary.

The association decided to raise prices of lawn mower sharpening from $1.50 to $2, and saw filing from 75 cents to $1.

Higher costs were cited as the main factor in raising prices.

FIRST ELIZABETH

The first Queen Elizabeth reigned in England from 1558 until her death in 1603 at the age of 69.

Book Discloses Many Facts About Victoria

Winnipeg's Portage and Main gets just as much sunshine as Victoria's Yates and Douglas.

Shocking as this revelation may come to the residents of Canada's most beautiful city, it originates with the Victoria and Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau.

Victoria and Winnipeg, say these brave men, get an annual average of 5.9 hours of sunshine a day.

"Facts about Victoria," the Bureau's little booklet, also is crammed with facts about the city some of which show up the Russians who are plugging their "firsts," and the U.S., proud of its "biggests."

Victoria had the first street cars in any Canadian city; its natives have the higest per capita purchasing power of Dominion cities; largest astrophysical telescope in Canada, and the booklet goes on and on . . . !

French Artillery Bombarding Rebels

SAIGON, Indo-China, Feb. 18 (Reuters). — French Union artillery bombarding the western extremity of the Tonkin Delta have killed several hundred Communist Vietminh rebels, a French army report said today. The 10-week long battle for the area flared anew last week end when the rebels attacked strong points along the French supply line from Hanoi to Hoa-Binh, 36 miles southwest.

The Swedes asserted that U.S. officials were misinformed if they believed that the first atomic bomb the Russians produced was given to them on a silver platter by American and Canadian spies and renegade scientists.

The bomb that the Russians finally succeeded in making was not the bomb that had been tested by the U.S. at Alamogordo, N.M., and later used against Hiroshima and Nagasaki in Japan, they declared.

What the Russians first developed was a bomb similar to the one that the Germans had made experimentally during the last war, using deuterium or heavy water, the top Swedish informant insisted.

"The Soviets must still start quantity production of uranium 235," he added.

The Swedish informants were quoted in the research report as saying that the Russians are desperately trying to catch up to the knowledge that the western powers have about the atomic bomb by taking short cuts.

But they said that the Russians still had the hardest work ahead of them, because they still have not mastered all the production know-how, which is the toughest problem of the atomic bomb.

"It was harder for the United States to put the bomb into production than to find out how to make it," the Swedish scientists pointed out.

FOUR YEARS BEHIND

Since the United States has mastered the production problem in all its aspects, the Swedes are of the impression that the Russians lag at least four years behind American development.

Until the Russians accumulate a stockpile of fissionables raw materials, it is doubtful that the Muscovite government can accumulate much of a stockpile of atomic bombs, regardless of politburo orders.

The informants said that the Kremlin was insisting on the utmost speed in atomic production, the work at the three underground laboratories being done under "forced conditions."

The Swedes said that the Russians probably would continue to have production difficulties indefinitely, despite this great emphasis on speed, for the reason that their industrial establishment simply was not geared to produce atomic bombs in quantity.

This week's column is being given to the analysis of hands from the recent International Team-of-Four Match in Naples, Italy, where an American team decisively defeated the European champions, an Italian team. We, however, are spotlighting those hands that revealed flaws on the part of the Americans. The following deal is another case in point.

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	NORTH
	♠ A 8 5
	♥ 10
	♦ K 10 6 5 4
	♣ A 9 5 3
WEST		EAST
♠ J 10 9 3		♠ 6 4
♥ Q 6		♥ A 9 8 4
♦ 3 2		♦ Q 9 7
♣ Q J 6 4 2		♣ K 10 8 7
	SOUTH
	♠ K Q 7 2
	♥ K J 7 5 3 2
	♦ A J 8

When the Italians held the North-South cards they reached the contract of five diamonds, and made the necessary 11 tricks for a 600-point score.

The American North-South pair bid as follows:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass
Pass	Pass

John Crawford, Philadelphia, was South; Howard Schenken, New York, was North.

East opened a club against the three-no-trump contract, and, as will be seen, Schenken then had to make a winning guess in the diamond suit to save himself. Unfortunately, he guessed wrong, electing to finesse through West, and when East got in with the diamond queen, the defenders rattled off four club tricks and the heart ace.

Schenken's bidding was beyond criticism, but a very strong case can be made against Crawford's acceptance of the three-no-trump contract. It is true that by making a jump rebid in hearts, Crawford expressed a strong preference for that denomination, but this jump rebid did nothing to indicate the actual 6-4-3-0 pattern of the South hand. With the club lead strongly indicated, it was certainly not "comfortable" for South to play at no-trump, and most experts we imagine, would prefer to take the no-trump out to four diamonds, thus leaving the way open to either a four-heart contract, if North had a couple of hearts, or a five-diamond contract.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

Young Bobbie the bob cat dropped from his paw the snowball valentine he was going to throw at Uncle Wiggily. Clarence the fox also dropped his snowball. Very much surprised that their plans had been found out by Old Bobbie, who was the daddy of Young Bobbie, the two animal boys followed Mr. Bob Cat through the woods in the dark.

The dark did not keep the bob cats and the fox from seeing. They could not, of course, see as well as in the daytime, but the bob cats and the young fox could see much better in the dark than either you children can see or than I can see.

"Where are you taking us, daddy?" asked Young Bobbie.

"You will soon see," said Old Bobbie.

"Are are you going to punish us?" asked Clarence the fox.

"No, I am not," answered Old Bobbie. "I think Young Bobbie had punishment enough when he had to help me dig away the big snowball that he rolled in front of Uncle Wiggily's snow house. And I think, Clarence, that you are going to be punished enough when you find that you are not going to have the fun you thought you were going to have when you hoped to throw a snowball in Uncle Wiggily's face. Have you two boys anything to say?"

"Yes, sir," answered Young Bobbie.

"Yes, sir," answered Clarence the young fox.

"Then come with me to the grocery story of Mr. Pat Butter," went on Mr. Bob Cat. "Have you any money, Young Bobbie?"

"I have ten cents that you gave me for my allowance," said Young Bobbie. "I was going to use it to buy caps for my water pistol."

"Your water pistol does not need caps to make it squirt," said Old Bobbie. "So you must use your ten cents to buy a nice valentine for Uncle Wiggily and not a snowball valentine."

"O.K., daddy," answered Young Bobbie.

"Have you any money, Clarence?" asked Old Bobbie of the young fox.

"I have ten cents," answered Clarence. "It is my week's allowance. I was going to use it to buy a new brush for my box of water color paints."

"You do not need a new brush," said Old Bobbie. "Just cut a few hairs from the end of your big tail, Clarence, and make a brush of them."

"O.K., Mr. Bob Cat," answered Clarence the fox, respectful like.

"Now follow me," said Mr. Bob Cat. "We are going to the store."

"Is there any store open this late?" asked Young Bobbie.

"Yes, there is," answered his father. "Mr. Pat Butter is keeping his grocery store open late to-night. He is having a special sale of Swiss cheese with extra big holes. There you can buy Uncle Wiggily some nice valentines that are good to eat. You will buy some carrots, some cabbage, some lettuce from Florida and some lollipops."

"They will be funny valentines," said Young Bobbie.

"But much better than snowballs," answered Old Bobbie.

At the store of the grocery goat, the two boys bought some different valentines for Uncle Wiggily. And when they rang his bell and handed them to him, Mr. Longears twinkled his pink nose and said:

"Well, boys, this is a very jolly surprise. My! My! What lovely valentines! Now wait just a moment, I have something for you."

"It is an invitation for you and Clarence to come to my snow house on Monday," said Uncle Wiggily. "There is going to be a party there and you will have a lot of snow house fun. Be sure to come!"

City V.O.N. Nurses Make 30,000 Calls

The seven nurses associated with the local Victorian Order of Nurses made more than 30,000 visits to Greater Victoria homes last year.

Miss Elizabeth Riddell, member of the V.O.N. here, mentioned that figure in a talk to the Victoria Gyro Club yesterday. She noted that National V.O.N. Week would be observed across the country [illegible] March 2.

"The purpose of this week is not to raise money, but rather to acquaint Canadians with the work of the nursing organization," Miss Riddell said. There are 110 branches across Canada.

Victoria's branch of the V.O.N. was founded in 1910, but many citizens are still unfamiliar with the work done by its members, the nurse explained.

The V.O.N., she said, provided the most reasonably priced nursing service available. There was a small fee expected from those who could afford to pay for the service, but last year 65 per cent of the calls were free of charge.

[illegible] will soon be established in the new welfare building, Cook Street, Gyro Club members were invited to visit the premises.

A film dealing with last year's Calgary Stampede was shown by Philip McGarvie of Vancouver.

Two Women Plead Guilty Of Retaining Stolen Goods

Pleas of guilty were entered by two women in city police court yesterday on joint charges of retaining stolen property valued at more than $25.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded Janet Parker and Sylvia J. Anderson, both of 3130 Yew, to Wednesday for sentence.

City Prosecutor James Proudfoot asked that the circumstances relating to the offense be withheld.

"There are other charges to be laid," he said.

Dorothy Carlow, 19, of Sooke, was handed a suspended sentence by Magistrate Hall on a vagrancy charge. However, she was ordered to enter in to a bond for $25 to be of good behavior and go back to her home.

A charge of careless driving against C. G. Scott, 417 Arnold, was remanded to Friday.

Veteran Union Man R. McCulloch Dies

Well known in Victoria and Mainland labor circles, Robert McCulloch, veteran trade unionist, died in Vancouver Saturday.

Mr. McCulloch died of a heart attack. He was 50 years old.

Vice-president of the Vancouver and District Trades and Labor Council (T.L.C.) and a member of the T.L.C.'s provincial executive committee, Mr. McCulloch also held the post of business agent for the Milk Drivers' and Dairy Employees' union for the past 15 years.

He was an accredited delegate to the Victoria Trades Council, and often attended meetings here.

He also conducted negotiations and business for his union here, at up-Island points and on the Mainland.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in Vancouver.

Patrol Leaders Hold Meeting

More than 100 patrol leaders from Greater Victoria, Duncan, Somenos and Salt Spring Island gathered in Victoria for a week-end Scout patrol leaders' conference.

With R.C.M.P. Inspector G. R. Engels as guest speaker, the patrol leaders attended a dinner at the Metropolitan Church Hall on Saturday.

On Sunday, they met at St. Louis College for a conference on scouting topics. A swim later at the Crystal Garden climaxed the conference.

Conference guests were Allen MacInnes, Duncan district commissioner, and Keith Dixon, assistant provincial commissioner.

City Jobless Total At Three-Year Low

TOTAL number of people out of work was less last week than at any similar time during the last three years, according to figures released by the National Employment Office.

There is a continuing demand in the women's section for qualified stenographers and typists with business experience.

Housekeepers to take full responsibility for care of homes and young children are urgently required, and experienced waitresses are also in demand.

Scott Asks Full Probe Of Swindle

W. A. Scott, acting on behalf of what he terms the "victims of the Gillies swindle" has urged that a Royal Commission investigate the matter.

In a letter to the mayor and city council, Mr. Scott requests "that the City Council act at once in this matter by requesting the B.C. government to immediately institute a Royal Commission."

The necessity of such an investigation is apparent, Mr. Scott writes, when the citizens paid for a "secret probe" which was not made public and "are at present paying for the upkeep of certain of the swindled victims who have been obliged to appeal for social welfare whilst an estimated $250,000 of the victims has not been accounted for."

Mayor Claude Harrison agreed that the correct way to look into the question was by a Royal Commission.

"You can't make bricks without straw," he said.

Forced Labor Charge Refuted by Probe

GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 18 (Reuters). — Egyptian charges that British forces in the Suez Zone have been using forced labor have not been substantiated. The International Labor Organization reported today. It published a 230-page report based on a personal investigation of the Egyptian allegations by Raghunath Rao of Bombay, deputy director general of the I.L.O.

Two Hurt on Week End; Few Accidents Reported

Despite hazardous driving conditions due to icy roads during the week end, motorists got off lucky with only one serious accident reported by police.

The mishap occurred in Sidney early Sunday morning when four men walked away from a two-car collision that badly damaged both vehicles.

Still in Rest Haven Hospital but in "good" condition is C. B. Jayne, Deep Cove. He suffered [illegible] but hospital officials say he will be released in a few days.

Michael Griswald, St. Joseph's Hospital, in the same car, was the only other man treated. He was released Sunday.

Dean Tripp, 1041 Third Street, Sidney, and Ronald Chew, 901 First, occupants of the second vehicle, did not require hospital treatment.

Police said the car driven by Griswald was proceeding into Sidney when it veered across Beacon Avenue and was in collision with the other car.

Impact rolled the Griswald car over on its side.

In good condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital is pedestrian Victor Palmer, 40, of 41 Pilot Street, who was injured early Sunday morning when he was in collision with a car at Humboldt and Government.

B.C. Ore Returns Here From Japan as Steel

Five hundred tons of Japanese steel — made from iron ore mined in B.C. — was unloaded here yesterday from holds of the American freighter Ss Charles E. Dant.

The steel, all in the form of 5 by 20-foot plates, was trucked from the shipside to Yarrows Ltd.

It will be used in the construction of two huge barges to be built for the Kingcombe Navigation Company — subsidiary of Powell River Co. Ltd. (Yarrows Ltd. is currently building a large tug for the same company.)

Seven trucks of a local moving firm were engaged transferring the cargo to the local shipyard.

"This steel we are bringing here was made in Japan from iron ore sent from British Columbia," said third officer Karl Anderson.

"It sounds sort of silly on the surface," he said, "but actually the steel is made over there at a fraction of what it would cost either in Canada or in the United States."

"It's the same with Australian wool . . . they ship wool by the ton to England, the English manufacture it into clothing and other items, and then the woolen goods are shipped back to Australia."

The ship has an additional 350 tons of steel plate for Vancouver. She left for the mainland port at about 10 o'clock last night.

The plates left here were of varying thicknesses between one-half inch to one inch.

"It is fine quality steel," remarked an official of Yarrows Ltd.
